POPE PRAISES "REAL LIBERTY" OF CHURCH HERE

Tells Archbishop Farley That "Breathing Free Air" Makes Miracles in America.

FEELS AS PRISONER

Compares Present Life With That in Venice Where Mgr. Farley Visited Him.

IN EXCELLENT HEALTH

Archbishop Takes Peter's Pence to Rome; Introduces New York Pilgrims.

ROME, Aug. 3.—Pope Pius X praised the American Church as a "maker of myracles" today in conversation with Archbishop Farley of New York, who brought the Peter's Pence from the New York churches to the Pope. Their conversation was about the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the establishment of the New York diocese.

The Peter's Pence offering brought by Archbishop Farley was the largest ever presented by any American diocese.

The Pope knew all about the celebration of the New York diocese last April and said:

"It is marvelous what you Americans can do. You make miracles. Indeed, the centennial was a most remarkable religious event. That is the result of a church breathing free air and enjoying real liberty and not being restricted within the bounds of certain concordats."

Pope Sighs From Grief.

During the conversation the Pope recalled Monsignor Farley's visit to him at Venice in 1903, remarking:

"It is quite different now from that day. Then I was free."

Here the Pope sighed as from grief. Archbishop Farley, however, found the Pope in splendid health, and cheerful. Indeed, speaking with regard to a Cardinal who has not yet come to see him since the conclave, the Pope said, jokingly:

"It is very unkind of him. He put me in prison here and never came again."

Printers' Mass Blessed.

Monsignor Farley also presented Father G. Evers, the founder of the printers' mass in New York, to which institution the pontiff gave his special blessing. Afterwards the Archbishop visited Cardinal Merry Del Val, papal Secretary of State, with whom he had a long conversation regarding the conditions of the church in America.

The Archbishop left Rome today for Frascati by automobile and tomorrow will go to Castel Gandolfo, on Lake Albano. Returning to Rome Thursday, Archbishop Farley will present to the Pope the J. J. McGrane pilgrimage, comprising about 200 Americans, who left New York July 16.

BIG COMMERCIAL BUILDING SAFE, INQUIRY SHOWS

Commissioner Smith's Office Examines Eight-Story Olive Street Structure.

The eight-story Commercial Building is safe, according to —statements made Monday by the owner, H. Overstolz, following an architect's examination and a test by Building Commissioner Smith's office.

A rope was stretched to cut off the sidewalk for a part of the Olive street side of the building. This was done because a brick fell from the cornice Sunday.

The falling of the brick recalled the danger to the building several months ago, when the excavation for the Third National Bank Building, directly on the east, was made. At that time the Commercial Building settled slightly, and it was said that a deeper excavation on the other side of the alley might have been disastrous.

The fall of the brick, it was found Monday, was due to the vibrations of a pneumatic tube motor used by the Western Union Telegraph Co., chief tenant of the building.

Pedestrians were kept away from the sidewalk during the morning, not in the fear of any great disaster, but because it was thought that another brick or two might have been loosened.

RECONCILED WITH HER HUSBAND AFTER ARREST

MRS. INEZ BORAH.

WIFE MAKES UP WITH HUSBAND AFTER ARREST

When 19-year-old Mrs. Inez Borah returned suddenly from a vacation visit in Fairfield, Ill., and found notes from other women in her husband's room at 3015 Lawton avenue, she flew to the divorce court.

When the young husband, Melvin A. Borah, seeking a chance to explain, found that Mrs. Borah had gone to Mannion's park with an old school friend, William C. Coss, he followed them there, and there was a scene at Broadway and Market street which sent all three to the Police Court.

So it happened that the Borahs and Coss were before Judge Tracy Monday on cross charges. They all looked very cross, but City Attorney Anderson decided the case was not so hopeless as it looked.

Loved Each Other, but—

He invited the Borahs into his office. "No, I don't want you," he said as Coss started to enter with them.

"Now," the young city official demanded, "how long have you been married?"

"Three years," said both.

"Do you love each other?"

"Yes," they chimed. "But"—

And they told their grievances.

"But, honey," protested Borah, "I only wrote to those other girls because you were away, and I didn't mean any harm."

Agree to Drop Suit.

"Well, you needn't have made a fuss about my going out with Mr. Coss, either," sobbed the girl wife. "He was just a friend of my folks at home."

"Will you drop your divorce suit and forget about your friends, and be good to each other?" asked Anderson.

"Yes," was the instant answer.

"Dismissed on payment of costs," said Judge Tracy a moment later, and the two went away hand in hand.

The same ruling applied to Coss, who departed by himself.

ST. LOUIS YOUTH RESCUED DURING STORM ON LAKE

When Waves Capsize and Smash Boat, Young Werner Faces Death at Huronia.

BATTERED BY BREAKERS

Two Young Men Start Out to Bring Him Off Posts, One Is Exhausted.

Howard Werner, a son of Attorney Percy Werner of St. Louis, had a narrow escape from drowning at Huronia Beach, Mich., where he is spending the summer, during a storm that swept over Lake Huron last week. He was rescued by the heroic work of Preston Lockwood and Theodore Brookes, also of St. Louis.

Information regarding the young man's danger and the heroic rescue reached St. Louis Monday in letters from Huronia Beach.

Friday night a severe storm was raging over the lake and the waves that pounded the beach were higher than they have been at any time this season. In spite of the danger young Werner, who is about 20 years old, got out his small boat and started for a row.

The waves tossed the cockleshell of a boat around like it was a chip, but young Werner unconcernedly rowed toward the open lake where the waves were rivals of those that wreck Atlantic liners.

He was out one hundred yards or more and was near the poles driven by fishermen to hold their nets, when his boat did not take a wave properly and was capsized instantly. Watchers on the shore thought the daring young oarsman was lost.

Boat Smashed by Waves.

The boat did not sink and soon it was seen that Werner had seized it and was clinging on. He was unable to guide it and craft and man were washed toward the heavy piles, that form a breakwater. The boat was dashed against the piles with such force that it was smashed to splinters.

Young Werner held to one of the piles and in spite of the beating of the waves he clung on. He was buffeted about and was soon so exhausted that he dared not let go and try to reach the shore. He finally crawled between the piles and thereby was partially protected from the waves.

Lockwood and Preston, who were with others on the beach watching the waves, hurriedly removed some of their clothing and plunged into the lake to go to Werner's rescue. They started on the lee side of the breakwater, where the wavs were not so high, but in spite of this protection young Brookes was forced to give up and return to the shore. He was almost exhausted.

Reaches Werner After Struggle.

Young Lockwood persevered and after a struggle reached Werner. He rested for a moment and then the two started for the shore, Lockwood supporting Werner.

After several minutes, during which watchers on the shore wondered what the result would be, they reached the beach in safety.

THEY ARE AFTER THE RAILROADS, HARRIMAN SAYS

"Wizard" in Chicago Decries Legislation Against Common Carriers.

MEETS OTHER CHIEFS

Gives Reason for Straits in Which Many Lines Are Involved.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—President Roosevelt's prosecution of railroads for rebating was hinted at by E. H. Harriman today as the reason for the bankruptcy and receiverships in the railroad world.

The "wizard" was asked before he went into conference with officers of his system why it was that after five years of great prosperity, the railroads are in bad straits, many of them in the hands of receivers and many of them near receivership proceedings.

"Simply because THEY are after them," Mr. Harriman replied.

He did not explain whom he meant by "they."

Railroad Chiefs See "Wizard."

Late arrivals at the Harriman offices were S. M. Felton, president of the Mexican Central Railroad, and E. P. Ripley, president of the Santa Fe system. At luncheon at the Chicago Club, Mr. Harriman met J. H. Mitchell, president of the Illinois Trust and Savings Bank; Marvin Hughitt, president of the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad, and several officers of the Union Pacific.

To reporters to whom he talked before going to the club Mr. Harriman declared he was opposed to the Hepburn bill or any railroad regulation unless it carried with its provisions for publicity and regulation protection for the railroad companies.

Points Out Harm in Hepburn Act.

"The Hepburn act in itself would not be harmful," said Mr. Harriman, "had it been coupled with some legislation for protection as well as regulation. This I stated to the President as far back as 1905. I also wrote Mr. Taft about it that same year.

"I said then I favored regulation and publicity if coupled with protection, so as to permit the movement of traffic along the lines of least resistance and least cost. This can only be accomplished by co-operation between the railroads and the Government. Unless the Government is willing to grant one, it should not enforce the others."

BRYAN'S SPEECH, 5300 WORDS

Democratic Nominee to Accept in Brief Address.

FAIRVIEW, LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 3.—Contrary to expectations, the speech of acceptance of William J. Bryan will be a short one. He stated today that by actual count it contained five thousand three hundred words. While the issues of the campaign will be discussed, his views being reserved for more elaborate treatment in later speeches.

DR. WHITNEY SLAIN TO CONCEAL SECRET OF A MISSING GIRL

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CARTHAGE, Mo., Aug. 3.—Stories of a quarrel in the office of Dr. Lawrence E. Whitney and the disappearance of a 16-year-old girl living on a farm near Carthage, considered with the manner of Dr. Whitney's death by the roadside near here, have led the authorities to believe that he was murdered by persons who wished to preserve a secret which he shared with them in his professional capacity.

The local officials are seeking for the missing girl, a farmer's daughter, who was in delicate health when she disappeared. They believe she may have been an occupant of a curtained buggy which went 150 feet ahead of Dr. Whitney's buggy when he drove from Carthage to the spot where his body was found lying on the ground beside the vehicle.

The officials believe this girl will be able to clear up the mystery of the physician's death. Meanwhile, Sheriff Parker says he has not obtained sufficient evidence to warrant arrests of persons suspected of holding the secret which Dr. Whitney shared.

Woman Heard Quarrel.

A woman patient of Dr. Whitney, whose name the authorities refuse to disclose, has told them she was in Dr. Whitney's office Wednesday afternoon and overheard a part of a heated conversation between the doctor and a man she did not see. They were in the private office. The woman was in the reception room. She told the officers she heard Dr. Whitney exclaim: "No, I will not do it. I won't do that."

She did not hear to what he referred.

While the authorities are very reticent about their investigations, it is known here that they are suspicious that some of those who have made statements concerning it have not told all they know, and that they have reasons for withholding further information.

It is not improbable that arrests involving young men of prominent families will be made within a few days. Assistant Prosecuting Attorney H. L. Bright said today: "We are making diligent efforts to clear up this mystery. I will issue warrants as soon as I consider the evidence strong enough."

How Body Was Found.

A detailed description of the finding of Dr. Whitney's body was given today by W. H. Cherry, a farmer living about three hundred yards from the scene of the crime. Cherry first saw Dr. Whitney's horse standing beside the road when he went into a pasture at 6 a. m. to attend his stock.

"I paid little attention to the buggy" said Cherry to the writer. "I thought it had been tied there by an early morning hunter who was out after rabbits.

"I saw something lying under the buggy but at the distance I thought it was a dog."

Charles Harrell, a truck farmer, passing along the road a half hour later discovered Dr. Whitney lying unconscious under the buggy.

Harrell, Cherry and Cherry's sons removed the body and an ambulance was summoned. Dr. Whitney died before

"FIRST REAL LOCKJAW CURE" SAVES A BOY

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PITTSBURG, August 3.—The Magee annex, known also as the Pasteur institute, attached to the Mercy Hospital, announces the discovery of what is described as the first real cure for tetanus or lockjaw. It is magnesium sulphate, injected into the spinal column.

Harry Gilbert, 11 years old, was discharged this morning from the Pasteur annex, cured. His was one of the most severe cases that came under the notice of local physicians, and the new cure was watched quietly by physicians from all over the country.

A Fourth of July Victim.

The boy was hurt with a toy pistol on July 4, and on July 12 he was carried into the hospital in convulsions. The new treatment, consisting of injections of a 5 per cent solution of magnesium sulphate, was started and gradually it was renewed to 15 per cent solutions.

By degrees the body of the boy, which had become rigid, resting on the back of his head and heels, began to relax.

Anti-toxine, too, was given in good quantities to assist in the work of relaxing the muscles.

The treatment lasted 12 days before the muscles of the body became once more pliant and the last nine days have been passed by physicians in examining the boy to see what his condition is as described by the Mercy hospital physicians.

Experiment, Says Local Doctor.

Dr. Carl Fisch, head of the St. Louis Pasteur Institute, 3211 Pine street, in discussing the reported "cure" said to a Post-Dispatch reporter Monday:

"The injections of magnesium sulphate cannot be considered a cure for lockjaw. It is more a preliminary treatment to the application of anti-toxine. Even as a preliminary method of treatment it has only been worked out in theory and the result of the experiments so far have not been such as to warrant physicians placing reliance upon this method or in risking the lives of their patients by delaying the anti-toxine treatment.

"Dr. Metaler of New York has been experimenting along these lines for the last two years. He has not yet brought the treatment out of the experimental stage.

"The idea of the treatment is to get the muscles of the patient in a more pliant condition. It is claimed by the exponents of the theory that this will make more potent the anti-toxine application. But certainly it is too much to say that injections of magnesium sulphate could be called a cure for lockjaw."

OKLAHOMA GAS TO KILL LONDON FOG, DONCH'KNOW

Alexander A. Eberson is having pipe dreams in London, but they are not of the common variety. They are gas-pipe dreams. He is president of the Eberson Paint Co. in St. Louis.

Mr. Eberson has a vision of dissipating the pea-soup fogs of London and illuminating the follies of Gay Parse with gas—Oklahoma gas.

For the time being Mr. Eberson's ideas have supplanted the sheath gown as a subject of popular London discussion. Gas from the wild and wolly American West—it's as thrilling as a shilling shocker, doncherknow.

Could Cut Off Supply.

The scheme has advantages not at first glance apparent. For instance, the St. Louis provincial, seeing Paris by American gaslight, naturally will feel more at home. And if he is a survivor of the Ollie Roberts-World's Fair days he will be sure, long as the gas shines a reminder, to keep his hand on his billfolder after midnight.

In case of war with a European nation, the United States could, of course, cut the pipeline somewhere between Oklahoma and the Atlantic Coast line, and instantly plunge the continent and the right little tight little island into Stygian darkness. This is an advantage not to be ignored.

Listen to Mr. Eberson.

Dispatches from London Monthly quote Mr. Eberson as saying:

"Oklahoma already supplies Oklahoma, Kansas, Indiana and the northwestern part of Texas with natural gas," said Mr. Eberson, "and there are also pipelines from Oklahoma to St. Louis and from Indiana to Pittsburg.

"My clients, who have immense leases in Oklahoma and who supply the Standard Oil Co., have made up their minds to pipe their gas, if it is possible, to Europe. The gas does not cost anything, and we see no reason why it should not pay to lay pipeline from Oklahoma across Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania to New York and then across the Atlantic to Europe. The supply of natural gas is illimitable.

"Although I must confess my plan is as yet in the embryonic state, it may not be many years before London, Paris and Berlin are illuminated by Oklahoma gas, and the trolley cars and workshops in those cities be also driven by the same power."

Hope is expressed here that when Mr. Eberson gets the line completed he will permit St. Louis to hit the pipe and solve the question of monopoly rates here.

WALLACE AS A DARK HORSE IS COMING FAST

Judge's Vigorous Campaign Has Made Big Inroads in Rivals' Strength.

NEEDS 53,000 VOTES

Circuit Attorneyship Is in Doubt, With Connett Strong.

STAPEL IS SUPPORTED

"Anti-Lid" Candidate Claims Ward in St. Louis.

On the eve of the general primary election Judge William H. Wallace of Kansas City, champion of extreme Sunday closing laws, looms up as a formidable candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

Friends of Henry F. Stapel, W. S. Cowherd and Dave Ball admit the strength of the Wallace candidacy, but say the overwhelming vote in the principal cities of the State will preclude the possibility of his nomination.

According to the opposition, Judge Wallace will poll less than 13,000 votes in St. Louis, Kansas City, St. Joseph, Moberly, Sedalia, Hannibal and Joplin, out of an estimated Democratic vote of 65,000.

He must, therefore, come to the cities with a majority of 53,000 before he can cope with the Ball and Cowherd forces.

Will Split Up Machine Votes.

S. D. Stocks, campaign manager for Judge Wallace, declares that his candidate's chances are brightened by the probability of Stapel, Cowherd and Ball splitting the Democratic machine forces.

Ranging his three rivals on the side of the liquor interests, Judge Wallace stormed the principal local option counties. The Wallace method was well illustrated a few days ago at a Southeast Missouri meeting, attended by 6000 persons.

A drunken man arose from the audience and began to berate Judge Wallace for his onslaught on the saloons.

Cries of "Throw him out" greeted the man's protest and a dozen men were about to handle the intruder roughly when Judge Wallace interfered.

"Let that man alone," said Judge Wallace. "He is to be pitied rather than blamed. It is not the man, but something else that is responsible for his conduct."

Ministers and Judge's Campaign.

The speaker then proceeded to assail the saloons. An experienced evangelist could not have improved on the Wallace effort. The crowd went wild with applause.

Fifteen hundred Missouri ministers are acting as missionaries for the Wallace cause.

The Ball managers freely assert Wallace is their most dangerous competitor.

On the other hand, the Stapel and Cowherd men say the fight lies between Stapel, Cowherd and Ball. The situation in St. Louis, according to well-informed leaders, points to a tremendous victory for Cowherd.

Developments of the past week have proved disheartening to Ball's St. Louis managers. The Butler men began slipping away when "Col." Butler announced himself for Cowherd.

Stapel seems to have an excellent chance of carrying the Eighteenth Ward and possibly two or three wards in the South End.

Circuit-Attorneyship in Doubt.

All the leaders are at sea as to the circuit-attorneyship nomination.

The Miles-Daley forces have declared flatly that they intend to "go down the lines" for Harry M. Walsh, protege of the old Butler regime.

State Senator Tom Kinney, who has been aligned with these interests in the Democratic City Committee, is working for Campbell Cummings, but says he believes Connett may get a substantial vote in his wards.

In the West and South Ends the C[illegible] forces have made great progress.

TELEPHONE POLICE IF YOU FIND ELECTION FRAUDS

IN the interests of an honest and orderly primary election, next in importance to knowing how to vote the ballot is the knowledge of how to reach the police in case of an act of lawlessness being discovered.

Despite the fact that patrolmen will be stationed at various polling places, it is possible that an emergency —may arise during the absence of the regular detail.

A telephone message to the office of Chief of Police Creecy or Chief of Detectives Smith will bring a hasty response in a policeman, and those two officials will welcome any information which will warrant an arrest.

HURT IN AUTO, LIES HALF HOUR ON SIDEWALK

Witnesses of Accident Say Policemen Took Names Before Calling Ambulance.

CAR STRIKES MACHINE

P. H. Brockmann's Legs Broken When He Is Thrown From Running Board.

After both his legs were broken in a collision between his automobile and a street car at Twentieth and Olive streets at 12:15 a. m. Monday, Philip H. Brockmann, cashier of the F. W. Brockmann Commission Co., lay on the side walk for nearly half an hour waiting for an ambulance.

Brockmann suffered intense pain and his cries for help could be heard for several blocks. A crowd gathered around him, and two women who were in the automobile, fanned him until the ambulance arrived and took him to the Jefferson Hospital at 2600 Gamble street. Dr. Waldo Briggs said Monday that Brockmann may lose both legs.

Passengers on the street cars said the policemen neglected to call an ambulance until after they had obtained the names of witnesses to the accident.

Was on Running Board.

Brockmann was standing on the running board of the automobile, the seats of which were occupied by women and members of an amateur baseball club. As the chauffeur started to cross Olive street he saw a westbound car bearing down upon him.

Knowing that the machine would be struck squarely by the street car if he kept straight ahead, the chauffeur, in an attempt to avoid the accident turned west abruptly.

The front of the street car struck the front end of the automobile a glancing blow. Brockmann was thrown off and both his legs were broken, one above and the other below the knee. The seven other persons in the automobile escaped unhurt.

Was Met at Station.

Brockmann had been to Montgomery City with Pinell's baseball club. His chauffeur, Ernest Raymond, met the party at Union Station with the automobile. Brockmann gave the seats in the automobile to his guests. Mrs. Minnie Steele of 314 North Channing avenue was in the automobile.

Harry Schmidt, a nephew of Mr. Brockmann, who lives with him at 401A North Euclid avenue; Walted Pinell of 214 North Channing avenue and three members of the baseball club named Ryan, Shade and Harmon, also were in the automobile.

The chauffeur told a Post-Dispatch reporter Monday that the automobile was not running more than seven or eight miles an hour when the accident occurred. He said the street car was running rapidly.

KAISER'S OFFICIAL "FIRER" OF HIS MINISTERS IS DEAD

Highest German Officials Knew Dr. Von Lucanus' Blue Envelope Meant Dismissal.

BERLIN, August 3.—Dr Frederick K. H. Von Lucanus, chief of Emperor William's so-called civil cabinet, died here today. His duty was to advise his majesty concerning the character and abilities of officials in their official administration.

It was the office of Dr. Von Lucanus to inform ministers and other high personages when the Emperor desired to eliminate them from office, which he usually did by handing over a note inclosed in a blue envelope, so that the doctor and his blue envelope were the subject for many a grim witticism.

WOMAN AFIRE LEAPS INTO BED BESIDE HER SLEEPING HUSBAND

She Dies of Injuries, He Is Burned and Home With Contents Is Destroyed.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PRINCETON, Ind., Aug. 3.—Mrs. Dan Waters, who lives near Owensville, Ind., poured kerosene this morning on the smouldering kitchen fire. Her dress was ignited by the explosion which followed.

Mrs. Waters rushed into her bedroom and jumped into bed where her husband lay asleep, calling to him to save her. The bed and the husband's night clothing at once caught fire, but he seized his wife and dragged her into the yard, trying to beat out the flames.

Mrs. Waters died in a few hours. The home and its contents were destroyed while Waters tried to alleviate his wife's sufferings, although himself severely burned. Mrs. Waters leaves four children.

BOY STEALS BROTHER'S SCHOOL MONEY BY FORGED CHECKS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SEDALIA, Mo., Aug. 3.—Clyde Estabrook, the 17-year-old son of a Missouri Pacific shopman, has been working in a drug store this summer and had deposited $65 in a local bank so that he might attend school this fall. Saturday he sent his bank book to the bank to have it balanced and was astounded when informed by the cashier that he had only $1.11 on dep sit.

Investigation revealed that a 14-year-old brother had forged Clyde's name to more than twenty checks ranging from $1 to $3 and local merchants had cashed them. The brother has disappeared.

reaching town. He did not recover consciousness.

Not Wounded by Fall.

The position in which the body was lying makes untenable the theory that Dr. Whitney suddenly became sick and fell from the buggy, fracturing his skull. The wound in his head did not touch the ground and there was no dirt in the wound showing that it was not caused by striking the ground.

The doctor's clothes were not dirty, showing that they had not scraped against the wheel. The authorities are convinced Dr. Whitney was placed beneath the buggy after he had been assaulted and after the horse had been led to the side of the road.

The horse had been standing in one place for several hours, probably all night. It had pawed holes in the earth. Dr. Whitney's horse was a spirited animal and the officers say they cannot believe it stood in one place all night unless it was tied to the fence. Those who found Dr. Whitney say the horse was not tied.

Medicine Case Brought Back.

It has been pretty well proven that Dr. Whitney's medicine case was removed from the buggy, kept all day and then placed in the road 75 yards from the place where the body was found.

A careful search was made Thursday morning for the medicine case. It was found Thursday afternoon in plain view about six inches from the wheel tracks in the road. Those who searched for it in the morning say they are positive it was placed in the road after they made their search.

Before leaving Carthage to go to the country on the fatal night, Dr. Whitney telephoned his wife he had received a call to the country and that he would be out late. Officers of the local telephone company stated positively today that Dr. Whitney did not receive a telephone call from the country.

This leads the authorities to place even greater credence in the theory that he was lured to his death by a man and woman in a close-curtained buggy. This buggy was seen near the Whitney residence early in the evening of the night Dr. Whitney was killed, by Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hannum Jr., who live near the place where Dr. Whitney was murdered.

Buggies Passed on Road.

About 9 p. m. it was seen by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hannum and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McReynolds Jr., who passed the curtained rig about a mile from the scene of the murder.

They say Dr. Whitney was following the buggy and was about 150 feet behind it.

It is now believed Dr. Whitney had lived for several days in fear of his life. A search of his desk and safe disclosed a memorandum of his life insurance policies, notes and other valuable papers. This was written on stationery he received only a few weeks ago and was evidently prepared only a few days before his death.

ALTON TURNS UP WITH NEW ANGLE TO SERVANT PROBLEM

Doctor Asks Police to Arrest Girl Who Worked Telephone Overtime.

The servant problem in Alton took on a new angle when Agnes Monroe, a housemaid at C. V. Stahl's home, made herself the official telephone girl for social gatherings, extending her invitations to other servants employed on Bluff street.

Dr. E. L. Foulds employs a girl named Lottie, and he says Lottie got about a dozen telephone calls a day from Stahl's servant. They were usually to make plans for evening meetings, he says, and he wearied of acting as messenger boy.

When Dr. Foulds told the girl to quit calling up, she became impudent, he complains, and he telephoned the police to arrest her for disturbing the peace.

When Stahl, who had not been aware the girl was using the telephone so frequently, learned of the trouble, he promised to discharge her if the police would not arrest her.

This was done Monday, and the situation quieted down.

HELD AS ELOPER, CLERK ASSERTS HE IS INNOCENT

Alberto Gomez, Who Wooed Girl at Business College, Explains to Police.

Alberto Gomez, 3511 Franklin avenue, a clerk in the International Trading Co., was arrested by police of the Ninth District Sunday night at the request of the police of Springfield, Ill., who charged him with having eloped with Grace Black, 16 years old, of that city.

A dispatch from Springfield Monday morning to the Post-Dispatch said that Miss Black was at home in Springfield. She went Sunday to visit a friend without notifying her parents. Her father, Frank P. Black, a traveling man, believing that she had come to St. Louis to join Gomez, who had been paying attention to her, had the police of that city request the police of St. Louis to arrest Gomez and detain the girl if she were found here.

Gomez was released by the St. Louis police after they had heard his story of his life since he has been here.

Gomez spent the night in the Dayton Street Station and was sent to Central District Monday, where he told Capt. Young he had not seen Miss Black since he came to St. Louis, July 14.

"I came from Mexico eight months ago," he said to a reporter for the Post-Dispatch. "I was unable to obtain work and went to Springfield, where I had some Mexican friends.

"There I entered a business college to make myself more capable of holding a clerical position. I met Miss Black, who was studying shorthand, and we became friends and later sweethearts.

"I have not eloped with her, and until I was informed by the police that she was not in Springfield I believed her to be there. I had a letter from her from there last Thursday. I arrived in St. Louis two weeks ago and went to board with my friend, Ernesto Zambrano."

KILLS SELF IN VIEW OF POSSE

Slayer of Sister-in-Law Shoots Himself at Door.

LAWTON, Ok., Aug. 3.—Surrounded by a posse 20 miles southwest of Lawton, J. M. Phillips of Randlet, who yesterday killed Mrs. June Smith, his sister-in-law, at Temple, committed suicide early today rather than submit to arrest. The killing of Mrs. Smith grew out of jealousy. Phillips fled to his brother's house, near the Texas line. While the posse surrounded the house, Phillips appeared at the door and shot himself.

ELEVATOR CO. RECEIVER SOUGHT

Burlington Concern Hampered by Clash, Petition Says.

A receiver for the Burlington Elevator Co. is asked in a petition filed Monday in the Circuit Court. The company operates a grain elevator at the foot of East Grand avenue. The petition charges that for several months there has been such dissension in the Board of Directors that business has been neglected, and says there now is little grain in the elevators.

The signers are the Maheu & Coyle Manufacturing Co., which says the elevator company owes it $2532.72, the Crane Co. $631.05 and Crowder Brothers $767.56.

Prof. Hicks' Case Dismissed.

MACHINE FIXES UP SLATE FOR LEGISLATURE

Men With More or Less Good Records Indorsed by Democratic Powers.

Democratic machine leaders are lining up their lieutenants on behalf of the following candidates for the State Legislature:

First District—RICHARD DURNEY, saloonkeeper; member of the Jefferson Club and former employe of the City Health Department.

District comprises Wards 9, 10 and 11 and precincts 13, 14 and 16 of the Twelfth Ward; precincts 1, 15 and 16 of the Twenty-fifth Ward; all of the Twenty-fourth Ward, and precincts 12 of the Twenty-third and 1 of the Twenty-eighth Ward.

Second District—M. J. RATCHFORD, clerk; member of Jefferson Club and close friend of Harry B. Howes.

District comprises Precincts 1, 3, 4, 5, 8, 9, 11 and 13 inclusive of the Sixth Ward; Precincts 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 15 of the Twelfth Ward; Precincts 1 to 11 of the Twenty-third Ward and all of Wards 7, 8 and 13.

Third District—F. E. (FISH) McADAMS, saloon keeper; political partner of "Jiggers" Gallagher, member of the House of Delegates Combine.

District comprises Wards 3, 4, 5 and precincts 2, 6, 7, 14, 15 and 16 of Sixth Ward; all of wards 14, 15 and 16 and precincts 1 to 11 inclusive of Twenty-second Ward.

Fourth District—CHRIS VON DER AHE, former baseball magnate and former saloon keeper; conducted a lid-lifting club about two years ago.

District comprises all of wards 2, 17, 18, and 20 and precincts 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 and 12 of Nineteenth Ward; precincts 5, 6, 7, 8 and 13 of Twenty-first Ward and precincts 1 and 8 of Twenty-sixth Ward.

Fifth District—W. D. GRIFFIN, saloon keeper; member of House of Delegates when James H. Cronin, the famous "I-Ain't-Done-Nothing" statesman, was Speaker of that body.

District comprises Wards 1 and 27, precincts 4, 10, 11, 13 and 14 of Nineteenth Ward and precincts 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, and 16 of Twenty-sixth Ward.

In the Sixth District the party leaders have failed to concentrate on a candidate. Harry F. Horrick, a well-known character, is being supported by the "gang" element. The other Democratic candidates are N. Long, T. S. McPheeters Jr., John O'Donnell, H. Rowe, R. P. Spencer, J. W. Wood and M. T. Grooms.

O'Donnell Has Good Record.

John O'Donnell is a well-known contractor. He was a member of the House of Representatives in the Forty-second and Forty-third general assemblies. His legislative record was considered excellent.

This district comprises precincts 1, 2, 3, 9, 10, 11 and 12 of the Twenty-first Ward, precincts 4 to 14 inclusive of the Twenty-second Ward and Precinct 13 of the Twenty-third Ward, precincts 2 to 14 of the Twenty-fifth Ward and precincts 2 to 20 of the Twenty-eighth Ward.

Of the legislative candidates, the following have expressed themselves as opposed to the closing of saloons on Sunday: Republicans—M. Bogard, E. W. Foristel, Ben Desthus, T. F. Hogenow, B. F. Trogdon, J. H. Debrodt, G. E. Cobb, F. Landwehr, C. A. O. Brun., H. F. Droste, D. S. Stahl. Democrats—J. J. Somers, O. C. Backof, L. Maune, J. T. O'Brien, C. Von der Ahe, W. D. Griffin, Jack Crowley and R. P. Spencer.

Senator Kinney Is Unopposed.

For State Senator, Thomas E. Kinney, incumbent, has no opposition in the Thirty-first District. Arthur Stoehr, who is the only Democratic candidate in the Twenty-ninth senatorial district, declares his intention of making the fight in this Republican stronghold on a platform committed to open saloons on Sunday. In the Thirty-third District the City Committee faction is supporting Edward F. Brady, while Joseph Brogan is the choice of the Hawes forces.

In the selection of legislative timber the liquor interests seem to dominate the list of St. Louis candidates.

"Fil" Helery Is Buried.

The funeral of Millard Fillmore ("Fil") Helery, for many years chief restaurateur to the members of the Merchants' Exchange, was held Monday at the late Francis Xavier's Church. The services at the house were conducted by the Elks, Colin M. Selph delivering an address. The pallbearers were W. B. Jones, O. [illegible] Sessinghaus, Aug. Rais, George R. Rice, William Connor and J. E. Lysaght. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery.

BIG ALLIGATOR AND HUGE SNAKE ESCAPE IN PARKS

"Pete," Biggest 'Gator, Takes Stroll in Park and Scares Women and Children.

Reptile 36 Feet Long Recaptured by Men Who Throw Bag Over Its Head.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Several hundred of the 15,000 visitors to the Zoological Park in the Bronx were thrown into a panic yesterday by the sudden appearance among them of the biggest alligator in the park. Before he was captured the alligator traveled several hundred feet and women and children fell and tumbled as they fled before him. It was only after a long and severe fight that he was lashed and carried back to his tank.

At one end of the tank there is a big pile of rocks. Pete, the biggest of the thirty-odd alligators in the pool, climbed to the top of the rocks and wriggled his way over the iron screen. His escape was not noticed until he invaded a group of women and children sitting on the grass about forty yards from the pool.

With a shriek all fled and the alligator, snapping at their heels, kept on his way toward the Polar bear den.

The alarm was sounded and all the keepers turned out, and, armed with ropes, they surrounded the alligator and dragged him back to the pool.

BELLEVILLE, N. J., Aug. 3.—The monster East Indian python which arrived in New York last week and was said to be the largest reptile ever brought into this country, escaped as it was being transferred from a box to a pit at Hillside Park last night and created consternation among a large crowd.

The reptile, which is more than 36 feet long, and weighs about 400 pounds, did not enjoy its liberty long, however, as a squad of attendants, with policemen and volunteers, recaptured it before it had got far from the pit.

J. C. La Breuque, an animal trainer, and Frank Gleason, formerly of the Bronx Zoo, threw a bag over the reptile's head. While they held it down by the head Policemen Gorham, Gilman, Hannan and Graham grabbed hold of the body and carried the writhing monster back to the pit.

The sight of the snake tossing men around sent several women and children into hysterics. When Gleason first approached the snake after its escape it struck him with its head and hit the canvas at the side of the pit, tearing a large hole in it.

FAULTY TRUCKS DERAIL ROCK ISLAND PASSENGER

Wreck Near Union, Mo., Obstructs Traffic on Road for Eight Hours.

A Rock Island passenger train, bound from Kansas City to St. Louis, was derailed at 8:30 Monday morning—four miles east of Union, Mo., according to a telegram to the Post-Dispatch.

The engine, mail car, baggage car and chair car left the track, according to the dispatch, but none of them was overturned, the ballasted roadbed preventing. Traffic was blocked for eight hours. The train carried 50 passengers.

At the offices of the Rock Island here it is said the wreck was due to faulty trucks on the engine.

CHICAGO IS ENTERTAINING LIZARD 60 FEET IN LENGTH

No Nature Fake About It—Reptile Has Been Dead Many Thousand Years.

CHICAGO, August 3.—Imagine the sensation of feeling a lizard about sixty feet long and thirty feet high and weighing about fifteen tons, crawling up your frame and grinning at you through teeth four feet long.

Any person who thinks that the description of the dinosaur of bygone days is a "new fake" can have his doubts removed by going to the Field museum where Prof. Riggs has his newest pet on exhibition. The specimen weight nearly ten thousand pounds as it stands.

The specimen is said to be the most complete in any museum in the world. It was discovered near Fruita, Colo., in 1907 by Prof. Riggs. It once crawled up and down the mountains of Colorado.

TWO DROWN IN MERAMEC WHILE CROWD LAUGHS

Spectators of Tragedy Thought They Were Witnessing Practical Joke.

THREE OTHER VICTIMS

Girl Sees Admirer Perish—Soldier Sinks—Brothers in Peril.

Meramec Highlands boatmen and fishermen dragged the river Monday, in the effort to recover the bodies of two men, one of whom gave his life in futile effort to save the other from drowning there. The double drowning, viewed by a laughing holiday crowd, was the most tragic incident of a day in which five lives were lost in the waters near St. Louis.

Unclaimed garments remaining in the bathing house at the Highlands indicate by their contents that the two men were W. P. Jarosewicz, of 782 Milwaukee avenue, Chicago, and W. J. Prusiele. They are believed to have been friends, and to have gone to the resort together.

Those who saw the men's struggles from the bank did not realize that either was really in distress. Pretended drownings and joking cries of distress had been so common among the swimmers during the afternoon that when real need came it was not recognized.

Visit to Girl Ends Fatally.

A visit to the country home of a young woman led to the drowning of Julius Buehler, 19 years old, of 4424A Easton avenue.

Miss Emma Boden, to whom young Buehler had for some time been attentive, invited him to spend Sunday at her home on the Fee Fee road.

There is a large pond on the Boden place. Buehler dived several times. The last time he did not come up. Miss Boden ran to her father's house, then went to Wellston for Coroner Bracy. While there she notified the young man's mother of the drowning.

Launch Party Sees Soldier Drown.

A passing launch party failed to save Albert H. Ingrund, a Jefferson Barracks recruit, from drowning in the Mississippi at the bend just below the Barracks, near the National Cemetery.

The young man went into the water with several fellow-soldiers and rode the current for some distance on a log. Abandoning the log, he started to swim to land, but became exhausted.

Fred Phillips, 16 years old, fell into Chouteau Slough, near Granite City, while fishing. His three younger brothers, none of them a good swimmer, sprang in after him, but were unable to aid him. He was taken to the shore alive, but died before a physician could be called.

Body Taken From River.

A telephone message from Kimmswick, a short distance south of St. Louis, to Chief Creecy's office Monday stated that the unclad body of a man had been taken from the river there. The man was described as 25 years old, nearly 6 feet tall and having red hair. The police believe the body is that of Albert Ingrund, the Jefferson Barracks soldier.

WONDERED WHY

Found the Answer Was "Coffee."

Many pale, sickly persons wonder for years why they have to suffer so, and eventually discover that the drug—caffeine—in coffee is the main cause of the trouble.

"I was always very fond of coffee and drank it every day. I never had much flesh and often wondered why I was always so pale, thin and weak.

"About five years ago my health completely broke down and I was confined to my bed. My stomach was in such condition that I could hardly take sufficient nourisment to sustain life.

"During this time I was drinking coffee, didn't think I could do without it.

"After awhile I came to the conclusion that coffee was hurting me, and decided to give it up and try Postum. I didn't like the taste of it at first, but when it was made right—boiled until dark and rich—I soon became fond of it.

"In one week I began to feel better. I could eat more and sleep better. My sick headaches were less frequent, and within five months I looked and felt like a new being, headache spells entirely gone.

"My health continued to improve and today I am well and strong, weigh 148 lbs. I attribute my present health to the life-giving qualities of Postum."

"There's a Reason."

JUST CALL ME "BILL"

CALL me Bill" was the invitation of Candidate Taft to a group of newspaper writers, according to dispatches from Hot Springs, Va. He explained that he never did care for "William," and that he dropped "Willie" while at college.

CANDIDATE TAFT SINGS.
(Tune—"I Don't Like Your Family.")

Call me Bill, just Bill, you see,
If you'd make a hit with me;
"William" is too formal for a man of girth abnormal,
Too much like the other nominee;
I don't want a title yet,
"Judge" is one you'll please forget,
"Mr. President" later, but while I'm a candidate,
Just call me Bi-ill!

CANDIDATE BRYAN SINGS.
(Same Tune.)

Call me Bill, it's up to me
To show geniality,
"William" is no whopper, it is common and it's proper,
But I am the Commoner, you see;
I was 'Colonel" long ago,
Also "Honorable," you know,
But I was a loser, so to change my luck this time,
Just call me Bi-ill!

TWO PRINCE$ $EEK WIVE$ IN UNITED STATE$

With Nothing Else to Pawn, Servian Ruler Pledges His Young Sons.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—If you have any $pare heire$$e$ in your family, prepare to $hed them now.

For a Russian General with a name like a bad cold has been commissioned by King Peter of Servia to find two American girls who are there with the big bankrolls. When they're found Peter will give them a job as wives for his sons, Crown Prince George, 21 years old, and Prince Alexander, 20.

The Russian General, one A. Tscherep Spiridovitch by name, if one may call those hieroglyphics a name, looked over the field in New York and then suddenly disappeared. It is not known whether he copped the ladies or not, but there is a suspicion that he has found a couple of promising samples and has retired to some quiet place where he can tabulate the plans and specifications of the brides-to-be for submission to Peter.

Two Kings to Draw to.

Besides the pair of princes, Peter and his Tscherep Spiridovitch hold out special inducements to any two American girls who will agree to finance a first class double wedding. Czar Nicholas of Russia promises to place his royal approbation on the wedding. With Peter himself, that makes two kings to draw to, and Spiridovitch thinks any American heiress ought to be willing to buy a stack of chips with that kind of a hand to begin with.

John Smiths Possible.

The financial condition of Servia is nothing to brag about just now, and Peter is not doing any boasting along that line. A couple of brides, American or otherwise, with real money, would be as welcome in the royal palace as a payment from President Castro would be in Washington. Unless Spiridovitch comes across very soon, the Lord High Keeper of Servia's Exchequer will be running the Government on John Smiths.

That's where the Czar of Russia comes in. Anything that sounds like money listens good to Nicholas. He is distantly related to Peter, but that is not the point, exactly. He has been lending money to keep the royal Government of Servia still governing, and as the bills were not paid on the first of the month he suggested that Peter pawn something.

There was nothing much about the palace that could be hocked excepting the two princes, so A. Tscherep Spiridovitch was dispatched to America to ascertain how much he could get on them.

Applications, photographs, certified checks and the like should be addressed to H. R. H. Peter, Belgrade, Servia. Inclose stamps also. The Government needs them.

Madam, do You Want a Germless Milk?

Here are the facts about raw milk, and the facts about Van Camp's. It will take but ten minutes to read them—then you can well decide. Please know the truth, then do as your judgment tells you.

The fact is this:

Not a housewife in this city will use raw milk after she knows Van Camp's.

You will never cook with half milk when you once know the flavor that Van Camp's gives to milk dishes.

You will never drink germ-laden milk when you know that Van Camp's is pure.

Is it not worth ten minutes to know the truth about something as vital as milk?

Milk Breeds Germs.

Milk is an ideal breeding place for germs. That is why it carries infections.

A single germ, left in milk a few hours, will breed millions of others like it.

Some cows are tubercular, and the milk from such cows carries the germs of consumption.

Some milk cans are washed in water which carries the germs of typhoid.

Some milkmen are diseased, some dairies are uncleanly. Some milk is subjected to foul air and to dust.

You know nothing about this when you buy raw milk. You have no way of guarding yourself.

But, when you use Van Camp's Milk, you are absolutely protected. There is not a germ of any kind in it.

Nothing but Milk.

Don't think of Van Camp's as condensed milk, for condensed milk is half sugar. Van Camp's is nothing but milk.

We simply take the richest of Holstein milk, and evaporate two-thirds of the water.

Nothing whatever is added—no sugar, no starch, no preservative. Nothing is subtracted save water.

We milk, in five states, 20,000 Holstein cows. Every cow is regularly inspected. So is every man who milks them.

Every dairy is sanitary. Every factory, where the milk is evaporated, is built without wood. We carry cleanliness to such an extreme that there is never a chance of infection.

Then the milk is sterilized after the cans are sealed. The milk keeps for years as fresh as the day we milked it.

Van Camp's is Delicious For Cooking.

Every woman knows this who has used Van Camp's. But she may not know the reason, which is this:

Milk that stands awhile separates. The butter fat rises and the solids fall.

Then you get one sort of milk from the top of the can, and another sort farther down. You never get the whole milk from the milkman's can.

And, perhaps, you skim what you do get before it goes into cooking.

In Van Camp's alone you get the whole, rich milk. You get 30% of solids—8% butter fat.

That's why all milk dishes made with Van Camp's are so delicious. The richest of raw milk cannot compare with it. Once cook with Van Camp's and you never will use any other.

We publish a book of recipes prepared by an expert on milk dishes. You can have it free if you'll write us.

A Cow in the Kitchen.

Van Camp's means a cow in your kitchen. Rich milk or cream—all you want, when you want it.

No waiting for the milkman, no shortage, no waste.

Yet it's even cheaper than raw milk.

Van Camp's is as thick as thick cream. So thick that you add one part water for coffee. Yet it doesn't cost half what you pay your milkman for cream.

Add two parts water and you have rich milk. And the cost of such milk, when you buy Van Camp's by the case, runs about three cents per pint.

Then you have no waste—no milk left over. That saving alone is enormous.

Best for Children.

Immigrant babies, when they arrive in New York, are fed on Van Camp's Milk.

They are fed under the direction of physicians who know the importance of germless milk.

The milk that is best for those children is certainly best for yours. Raw milk, like raw meat, is an unfit food, because of the danger of germ infection.

Children will find, when they drink Van Camp's cold, that the milk has an almond flavor. That flavor is due to sterilization. It signifies a germless milk. Children can drink all they want of it, without a thought of infection.

They cannot do that with raw milk.

Those are the reasons for using Van Camp's Milk. If you think there exists a single reason for not using it, it is based on mistaken ideas.

Sold by all grocers in 5c and 10c cans. Buy it a case or two at a time—it's much cheaper and more convenient.

HUNDRED DEAD IN FOREST FIRE, MANY HOMELESS

Flames Sweep Territory 100 Miles Square in East Kootenay, Canada.

CRANBROOK, B. C., Aug. 3.—From 100 to 150 persons are dead, thousands homeless and a loss of more than $5,000,000 has been entailed as a result of a forest fire raging through East Kootenay, according to reports received here today. The flames are sweeping mountain and valley over a region of 100 miles square.

Fernie, B. C., has been wiped out with a loss of 74 lives and Michel, with 1756 inhabitants, is believed to be safe from destruction, as the wind there has died out.

Hosmer, Sparwood and Olsen, with a total population of 1675 also are menaced by the flames. From every point tales of death and ruin are being received.

At Camp No. 4 of the Elk River Lumber Co., 61 men and two women have been burned to death and throughout the whole of the fire-swept region scores of isolated settlements have been wiped out. How many have been lost will not be known for days, as the whole country is a furnace, with its inhabitants fleeing, foodless and shelterless, to the bald mountain tops.

Four Die at Bridge.

Beside the groups of refugees on the mountain tops, every little prairie has its cluster of terror-stricken people. In the battle against the flames which hundreds of men have been badly burned and in many cases have perished. At a bridge west of Michel, Great Northern Railway employes tried to stem the conflagration and four are dead.

All through the Kootenay and Elko valleys are situated mines and prospects, each with its little group of toilers. At these spots, it is expected, will be found the greatest mortality and in many of them it is believed impossible that a soul will escape. There is fear that the flames may catch the May coal mines and oil wells of the region.

MILITIA TO SIT ON COUNTY LID NEXT SUNDAY

Gov. Folk Orders Soldiers to Rendezvous at the Target Range.

Gov. Folk proposes to send 300 soldiers of the First Regiment, N. G. M., to the target range opposite St. Charles next Saturday, and hold them there in readiness for incursions on lid-violating St. Louis County resorts. Also, there will be 100 mounted men from Battery A, with side arms, to patrol the county.

The Governor announced this program Sunday evening at the Planters, while four officers of the militia toured the county, accompanied by Dr. R. B. Denny, foreman of the grand jury now in session at Clayton, looking for cracks in the lid.

The word went round early in the day, however, that the Governor was in St. Louis and was sending out men to take a look for him, and that magical authority which clamps on or removes at will the lid in the county exercised its power. The lid went on.

Made Tour on Cars.

The officers who made the tour of the county are Adjutant-General James A. De Armond, Maj. W. L. Chambers, Brigadier-General Harvey C. Clark and Maj. Allen C. Orrick. They traveled on street cars, and reported that they found no evidence of law violation at any of the county resorts. They visited Creve Coeur, South Broadway, Meramec Highlands, Wellston, University City and other places where liquor selling on Sunday has been common.

Reports from Wellston and University City show that there were rifts in the lid in each place at various times during the day.

Militia to Make Arrests.

It is Gov. Folk's intention, he says, to have the militia make arrests and get evidence, and to have the men arrested indicted by the grand jury at Clayton if the evidence is sufficient.

The troops will be sent to the rifle range Saturday and remain over Sunday. There will be occasional "practice marches," the Governor says. These will be to points where lid violations are reported.

KIDNAPED GIRL RELAPSES INTO CHILDHOOD DAYS AND SPENDS DAY DRESSING DOLLS

Eighteen-Year-Old Clara Konter Believes She Swooned, but Remembers Little Afterward.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 3.—Miss Clara Konter, the 18-year-old girl who was thought to have been kidnaped last Monday and who since her mysterious return to her home Tuesday did not speak for 100 hours, had a rational spell last night and told all she could remember of her experiences.

Later the young woman relapsed into a peculiar condition. She appears to have lost about ten years mentally. She spent most of Sunday dressing and undressing her dolls, which had been brought out at her request, and in many ways she is but a child.

When she revived last night she said: "Send for Mr. Ness. I guess I'm going to die."

Mr. Ness is the family minister. He was sent for and on his arrival the girl said:

"I went down to the postoffice box and mailed a letter to my cousin in Philadelphia. Then I went up on the hill and sat down to see the mailman take the letters out. The day was very hot and I must have swooned. The next thing I knew it was morning and I was cold. "I remember staggering toward the house and I fell again and again, and don't remember anything until a few minutes ago.

"No, I don't know how I got into the house. I only know that my mind became a blank. If anyone kidnaped me in the night, I don't remember it."

BEVERLY B. TILDEN, FRIEND OF NOTED SINGERS, IS DEAD

New Yorker Had Done Much to Advance the Careers of Celebrated Vocalists.

SAN JOSE, Cal., Aug. 3.—Beverly B. Tilden, soldier of fortune, known in the world of art and opera and 18 years ago the pet of the English nobility, is dead at Innisvale, his beautiful country home near Alum Rock Park, after being an invalid for seven years. His father was the late Col. William Tilden of New York, a millionaire varnish maker, and the family gave to this country Samuel J. Tilden, candidate for President.

Beverly Tilden, though born in New York, spent most of his life in England. For seven years he was the Beau Brummel of English society, being favored by the Duke of Cambridge and the present Princess of Wales. It was he who introduced Lillian Nordica to the concert world, and he predicted the success of Alice Neilson and other operatic stars.

The dead man number among his associates Beerbohm Tree, Sir Henry Irving, Sarah Bernhardt and Sibyl Sanderson, and the walls of the Tilden mansion at Innisvale are covered with autographs of operatic celebrities, most of them inscribed to "My Dear Friend, Bob Tilden." Mme. Nordica's photograph bears the interesting inscription, "In memory of my first success."

GIRL WEDS RICH SUITOR; JILTED RIVAL ENDS LIFE

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 3.—Suicide through grief over the marriage of Maude Murdock, his former sweetheart, to George Wingfield, a Nevada miner, is believed by police officials and the unfortunate man's family to have been the cause of death of Vernal Revalk, whose body was found in a cab Saturday morning.

Following the marriage Thursday Revalk pleaded with his father to let him travel abroad in the hope of lightening his sorrow. A position was obtained for him in the Philippines and arrangements made for his hasty departure but his grief overwhelmed him before he could start.

ACID BURNS HUSBAND AS HE PREVENTS WIFE'S SUICIDE

Woman Tries to Swallow Poison When Accused of Receiving Other's Attentions.

The marital disagreements between Mrs. Jennie White and her husband, Frank, of 1743 North Eleventh street, were not reconciled by her effort to end her life with carbolic acid on account of them. Neither was her desire to destroy herself satisfied, although she burned herself and her husband severely.

Mrs. White told a Post-Dispatch reporter Monday at the City Hospital, where she is under observation, that her husband accused her unjustly of receiving attentions from another man.

"If I cannot have his faith, life is not worth living," the young woman declared, with tears in her eyes. She says his accusations were wholly false.

Mrs. White is 22 years old, with dull brown hair and blue eyes. She tried to swallow the acid Sunday afternoon, but was prevented by her husband, who entered the room just as she raised the bottle to her lips, and knocked it aside, burning his hands in so doing. Only part of the poison went down her throat.

MALTED BARLEY is digested food. Hops are a tonic—also an aid to sleep. That's what you get in beer. That's why the doctor says "drink beer" when one lacks vitality.

Beer quiets the nerves, not because of the alcohol. There is only 3½ per cent. of that. But because of the hops, for hops are soporific.

A bottle of Schlitz at bedtime induces sleep.

In every way the drinking of beer is good for you, providing the beer is pure. It is only the wrong beer that leads to bad after effects and to biliousness.

Schlitz beer is pure. We spend more on purity than on all other costs of our brewing. Even the air that cools it is filtered. And every bottle is sterilized.

The August Sale of Furniture and What It Means to You

THE success of a selling movement depends entirely upon its foundation. If the August sale of furniture was based merely upon enthusiasm, it would fall flatter than the proverbial pancake.

We would not delude ourselves with the idea that you would buy furniture in August to supply your September and October needs merely because we urge you to do so. There must be some incentive, and that is what the August furniture sale supplies.

We believe saving 20%, 25% and, in many cases, 33⅓% on the purchase is a great enough incentive to anticipate your furniture wants, as furniture runs in the money so quickly, and everyone aims to buy such articles at a minimum price.

We know that the minimum prices prevail at present in our furniture section, and, moreover, we offer you an endless range of the newest designs from which to make your selection.

Another feature that you want to consider is that we absolutely stand back of every article that we sell. If a piece of furniture does not possess merit, will not give our patrons satisfactory service, we will not sell it at any price.

Goods purchased during this sale will be held for future delivery, and arrangements may be made with our credit department to have the payments extended.

This is unquestionably the greatest furniture sale launched in the city of St. Louis, and those who have furniture needs, both present and future, should come and investigate. (Sixth Floor.)

Your Vacation Will Not Be Complete Without It

You may have the Post-Dispatch mailed to you during your absence from the city this summer. It will cost fifty cents a month, postage prepaid. You may ask for a change of address frequently without extra cost. A postal card notice, giving both old and new addresses will suffice.

If you wish to keep in touch with the news at home order the Post-Dispatch.

FOR HONEST PRIMARIES.

Gov. Folk's earnest request of the Police Board to have the polls closely watched to prevent disorder and fraud, and Circuit Attorney Sager's warning that all who attempt crimes in the primaries will be prosecuted and punished are timely.

Although it is true, as the Governor and Circuit Attorney say, that the primary election is as important as the general election, the safeguards around the ballot box are not so strong as in the general elections. There is no provision in the law for challengers, but if the police are vigilant and citizens help enforce the law, the repeaters will be checked. Police vigilance, which the Governor urges, will be effective to prevent crimes, or to assure the arrest of those who attempt them.

Every effort at thuggery and repeating should result in arrests. Every criminal who is caught must be prosecuted. The first primary must be orderly, and honest citizens must have protection at the polls and the assurance that their votes will be counted as cast.

Judge Daniel Dillon's long and excellent service on the bench is the basis of the approval of his candidacy expressed by many prominent lawyers in today's Post-Dispatch. In addition the voters have the recommendations of the Bar Association to guide them in the choice of candidates for both parties, and out of the group a first-class ticket can be made for the general election. The association recommends for Democrats, Hickman P. Rodgers, Robert F. Walker and William F. Woerner; for Republicans, George C. Hitchcock, William B. Homer and Eugene McQuillin.

REMEDY UTILITIES BILL AT ONCE.

Whether the defects in the Public Utilities bill pointed out by the City Counselor and the Mayor can be legally cured simply by the Council in repassing the measure is a point which should be decided at once, and if such action by the Council is sufficient it ought to follow immediately.

If the defects are not curable in this manner the measure should be passed promptly anew in the House and Council by the requisite majority. The majority exists in the House; the entire Council are favorable to a utilities bill; and the Mayor will give his signature to a measure that satisfies the legal requirements.

Under these conditions there can be no reason or excuse for delay, while, on the other hand, every circumstance presses for haste, and the strokes to hammer the people's weapon into shape should be given while the iron is hot.

If necessary to repass the bill, that can be done without change in its form or substance. The defects pointed out do not go to the body of the measure, but relate merely to a failure of the Council to adopt the House amendments thereto by the two-thirds majority required by the charter, instead of a mere majority.

Should it be determined to cure the technical omission by mere reconsideration in the Council, no member of that body, which, as a whole, is favorable to a utilities bill on principle, could afford to take the responsibility of withholding his vote in the face of urgent public necessity. Let us have a valid measure and proceed to the appointment of the commission and to the regulation of the so-called public service corporations which victimize the people of St. Louis.

THE LAMENTATION OF THE COLONELS.

If the ancient and honorable fraternity of Kentucky colonels could have its will the "harvest home" song of Kentucky's bumper potato crop would doubtless be a wail of most lugubrious lamentation.

This is because the homely, but succulent and sustaining "spuds" have actually taken the place of tobacco as the leading product of the rich soil of the bluegrass region, driving the nicotian weed into an obscurity aptly symbolized by its own hazy smoke. Following so closely on the overthrow of the exhilarating juice of corn and rye as Kentucky's chief treasure wrenched from the bosom of Mother Earth, and with the requiem of departed mint beds still sounding in the air, this is surely doleful news for the colonels.

Ichabod! Ichabod! How have the mighty fallen! What biting mockery is in a potato, offered to a Kentucky colonel as a substitute for "'baccy and booze!"

THE BALLOT IS THE THING.

The first duty of every good citizen in St. Louis Tuesday is to vote at the primaries. Good citizens may be sure that every political "rough neck" will vote, and if the "rough necks" and ward bosses dominate the polls, undesirable candidates will be nominated.

The Post-Dispatch has given the voters information of the character, capacity and records of candidates. It has pointed out the men who were unfit for office or who represent influences which should not be permitted to dominate the parties or the government.

The moral contest for good government in this city centers in the fight for the circuit attorneyship. On the Democratic side the Butler-Daley-Miles combine is struggling desperately to nominate Walsh. As the distinctive representative of the people in the contest against boodle, political corruption and machine bossism, Connett is the candidate on whom the Post-Dispatch urges the better elements of the Democrat party to concentrate. Mr. Connett is a courageous, capable young man, free from all machine entanglements or unworthy influences. His fight represents the people's fight for the control of the most important office of any in the city, which offers the largest opportunities to work for or against the popular interests.

In the Republican contest a young man of character and capacity, Loomis Johnson, who has had experience in the work of the office, has earned the commendation of independent voters by publicly opposing the effort of the Republican machine to control the primaries.

Candidates like Ed Morrisey for Sheriff and Colin Selph for Congress in the Twelfth District, who are the special candidates of the Butler-Miles-Daley combine, should be defeated.

The hope of victory for the people against all influences inimical to good government lies in a big vote. If good citizens of both parties cast their votes the result will be satisfactory—the bosses and their henchmen will be overthrown.

It is not agreeable to live on 30 cents a day, but when it is necessary it is well to know how. The letters which have appeared in the Post-Dispatch have been helpful to many a housekeeper who has been confronted with this problem.

THE MANUFACTURER OF NOISE.

Just as we are getting ready to abolish unnecessary noise in this country a French toymaker has begun the manufacture of it on a large scale.

It is a toy, made in a variety of forms, which contain no explosive, but detonates or "goes off" spontaneously—that is, at the will of the small boy. They are "quite harmless." The noise is not very loud, but, as described, it is "a long series or succession of detonations, the effect of which is very like that of a mitrailleuse or 'Gatling' at a distance." Some exportations have already been made to the United States, with the connivance of the American Consul at Grenoble, and a thriving trade is bespoken for the atrocious trifle by that patriotic son of Uncle Sam.

Noise for noise's sake; it may be joy for the small boy, but why should grown men, men with beards, men with the responsibilities of men on their minds, why should they puff such relics of barbarism which make life miserable for all but children who have not outgrown the primitive instincts of the stone age?

A high tariff should be put upon these toys, so high that the nimblest French drummer cannot leap over it. Then every State and municipality in the country should prohibit the manufacture in this country. Unnecessary noise must be abolished, not encouraged.

Connett's overwhelming nomination would vindicate the direct primary system and prove that the people of St. Louis are superior to bosses.

THE JAPANESE AND THEIR LAWS.

The instructions to Japanese youth, inserted in text books issued by the Government, some of which were recently published in the Sunday Post-Dispatch, are a curious mixture of worldly and unworldly wisdom.

Japanese boys are counseled not to be too curious about strangers. "Such habits degrade us as a nation." Tips are forbidden. Accept from a stranger only "what custom and good taste permit." "Treat everyone as if he were your equal." "Honor your ancestors, hold your parents in respect, but do not look upon a Christian as your enemy just because he is a believer in a different faith."

These are maxims which might find a place in copy books anywhere. But patriotism blazes in the injunction: "Do not sell to strangers either your home or your soil." All the other rules will be accepted as counsels of perfection, like the Ten Commandments and the Sermon on the Mount, but this last will be a sad trial to the Japanese people, who are just breaking away from clan ideas and entering upon the troubled sea of individualism.

In the West the rule is that the individual can sell anything he has, and he is generally eager to do so if he can get his price. His own interest is the controlling consideration. The Japanese is just as eager to make the most of himself as the American or Englishman, but he is perhaps more mindful of the social interest. Strangers have bought land in Japan, and mutterings have been heard that they may buy too much for the good of Nippon. How will the Japanese reconcile the conflicting claims of individual and social interests?

In this country the problem has been solved by selling the strangers land and then making Americans of them. They have made very good Americans. But we had a vast continent and needed population. Japan has a little island and a redundant population. It is a different problem, and perhaps it is the biggest and most difficult with which the Mikado's Government will have to deal. The Japanese have made a good beginning, but it is too soon to say that they are wise enough to escape the economic difficulties and miseries of the Western world.

The Independence League nominations complete the work. All the candidates, their wives and babies are before the public for inspection. They all look good. Even Mr. Preston, who is in jail, is not a bad-looking fellow. The wives are all prodigiously remarkable women, the babies the smartest and the cunningest. These necessary preliminaries being disposed of, the country will now proceed to inquire what it is really all about.

CUPID OUTLAWED IN CHINA.

According to Ng Poon Chow, said to be an eminent Chinese publicist, there is no such thing as a love marriage in China.

"We do not recognize love," he says, "and we have never been buncoed by Cupid. To the Chinese mind love is a delusion, hallucination, intoxication, a mirage in the desert of passion."

Very likely, but to the Occidental mind the Chinese idea of marriage is not alluring. It is a matter of routine duty which every citizen must accept as one of the duties of life, just as he eats his breakfast and pays his debts and taxes. That is, it is "all in the day's work."

This view can never obtain in America, where every man and woman is eager to be deluded, intoxicated and demented by the great passion. Indeed, that man or woman who has never been "buncoed by Cupid" has a right to complain of being cheated in the game of life. Chinese ideas on love will not do in this country.

When the worst elements in the Democratic party unite on Walsh the best element had better unite on Connett. That is the best way to keep the office of Circuit Attorney free from questionable influences.

FORESEES THE RUIN OF OUR INDUSTRY.

The probable ruin of the country's industries by aerial smuggling, predicted a few weeks ago by the Post-Dispatch, has become the subject of fearsome thought among Treasury officials.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Winthrop thinks the aeroplane will be the greatest enemy of our industrial tariffs, owing to the swiftness of its flight. It will be difficult for the Government aerial revenue cutters to catch these flying smugglers. But he thinks for the present only small articles, like diamonds and other precious stones, will be carried. The machines are not yet strong enough to bear heavy loads like locomotive engines, armor plate and sugar in hogsheads or in bulk. Still, he says, with a farseeing sagacity, "it is essential that we look into the future."

It is well to look into the future, but that is so black, it is not easy to see much but dusky desolation and hopeless bankruptcy.

Either aeronautics must be forbidden by the Government or a roof must be constructed covering the whole country to prevent the entry of foreign-made goods by way of the air lines. The first does not quite meet the awful emergency because the nations of Europe cannot be compelled to suspend aeronautic experiments, and they will send their airships over loaded with pauper manufactures and flood the land with good things which will utterly destroy American industry. A roof is the thing—the only thing. Build a roof and keep out the product of foreign labor. Only by this means can we save our industries.

Conflicting reports leave it doubtful whether George Gould got out or was shoved out. It is certain, however, that he is out, and the man who is in is not in because he is the son of his father. This may account for some of the ups and downs, ins and outs of the business world.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

What Is a Gentleman?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

To dwell on his exquisite delineations of individual character as it appeals to me would take up too much space. It is a part of human nature to reach out for an ideal, most all have faults and have fallen short of a soul's standard. A true gentleman should never insult by malice nor oppress by cruelty, he should have a benevolent mind, be honorable, confident of himself, never vain nor boastful, have the power to inspire respect, and aspire to the highest good, thoughtful, courteous and kind, a spirit of frankness, a sense of humor, is loyal to his principles and his friends. MRS. W. H. HALL.

The Case of Miss Gutfleisch.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I once knew a man who was very sick for a number of years, during that time he had the best doctors, and one form of treatment was a particular style massage; he failed rapidly; finally he was healed without medicine; God cured him. The physician who gave the massage said, "I always knew it was in his mind." Then why, may I ask, did he try to pound the disease out of the body? If Miss Gutfleisch's affliction was whatever it was, and she has been healed, should we not rejoice? Should those who tried to heal her not say, I tried, but failed, and I am glad she is healed.

MISS CARRIE MORRISON.

Queer Effect of Remorse.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

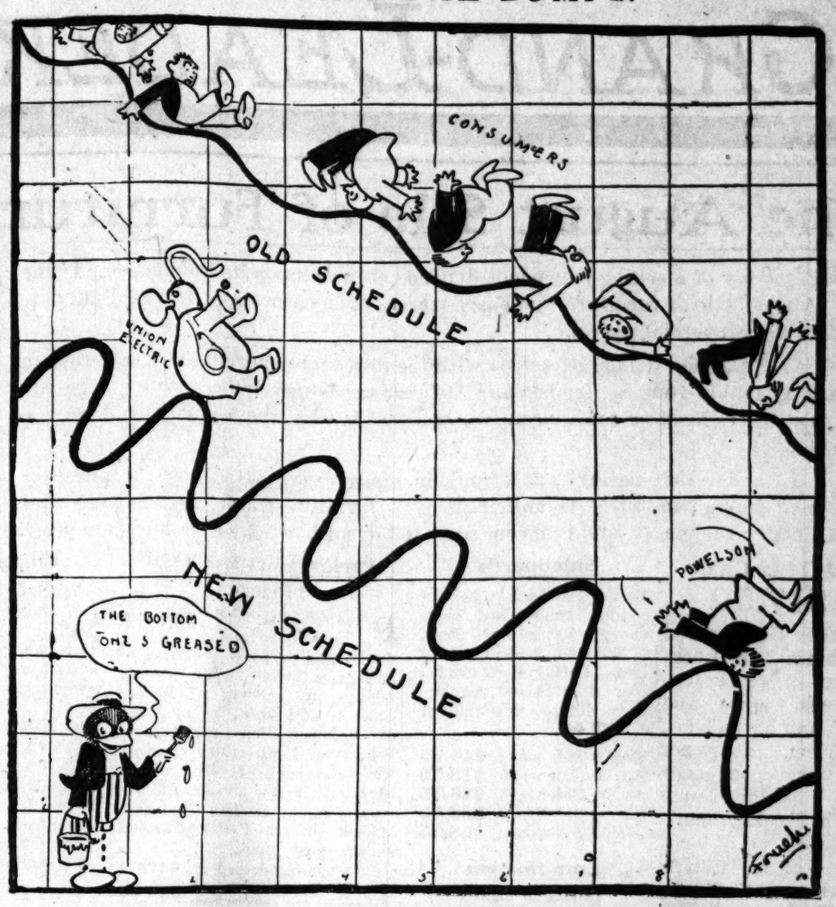

The picture in the Friday Post-Dispatch, showing a New York dancer in the act of exhibiting the supposed remorse of Salome for her share in the death of John the Bapist, suggests that most of us don't know what queer effects remorse may have on a woman. In this case it seems that Salome, having brought about the death of an innocent man, is impelled to perform what is vulgarly known as the "split act." Perhaps the story of Judas Iscariot going and hanging himself is not entirely true. Living in the days of Salome, the poor man probably rigged up a high trapeze and spent the rest of his days swinging in tights. ASTONISHED.

The Grip of Necessity.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Under normal financial conditions I would gladly welcome a visit from the stork, but since the panic I have been compelled to return to work as a stenographer, an occupation I was engaged in before my marriage a year ago. Such a visit now would be unwelcome. In fact, it would be a great misfortune. My husband has been out of work for six months through no fault of his, and I have gone back to work. This I have gladly done, for there never was a finer man or better husband in the world, but this is not the ideal life we had pictured and dreamed of, and it is not right. In this grand productive country of God's and ours there should be a chance for good, industrious and intelligent men to work for a living. If the people who are responsible for the present conditions go to heaven, then I do not want to go there. A YOUNG WIFE.

BUMPING THE BUMPS.

Roof Gardens in Mokane.

Not only is the soil in this section so fertile that its exact depth has never been determined, but even the air and the mortar and brick of which the business houses are composed are of sufficient fertility to bring forth and nourish vegetable life. If anyone doubts this statement, we cite them to the bunch of mullen growing from the mortar near the top of the brick building in which the Postoffice is located. Although it has been there for some time, the sharp eye of Prof. Geo. Whyte was the first to discover it, but it is now one of the novelties pointed out to everyone who enters the building.—Mokane (Mo.) Herald-Post.

The Reason.

Barber: You and your brother are such young men I often wonder why you're so bald.

Young Man: If you'll promise not to say anything about it I'll tell you.

Barber: I won't say a word!

Young Man (whispering): Our hair fell out.—Comic Cuts.

HISTORICAL FORECASTS.

Having been President two years with very little newspaper mention, Mr. Taft called for his porters three.

"Bring me some newspaper files covering the Roosevelt administrations," he commanded.

They were brought in, and his exalted fatness burrowed around in them like a dog after a woodchuck.

The banting expert of the administration came in just as the last note was made.

"Well?" he said.

Mr. Taft ran his eye over the list and struck the table an emphatic whack.

"Here are some things we are going to have right away," he announced: "An Ananias Club, a bear hunt, a naval battle with Congress, reformed spelling, a row with Wall street, no motto on the national coins and a crusade against nature faking. I'll look up some more tomorrow."

Pushing on through the jungle, Mr. Roosevelt came to the capital of Pearly Teeth, king of the Big Bellies. The tom-toms sounded a true African welcome, and the former President found his host awaiting him on the front porch of the royal bungalow.

They shook hands like long-lost brothers, each inwardly envying the other's teeth.

"Blub-blub-poolah-batash - blub - blub-sik-en-ek-see-to-wah-wah-blub-b-ub—to-gan-tu-gan—wa-hoo-wa-hoo—no-gani-no-gani-guni-to-willawookens-blub-ty-blub - blub!" exclaimed the King.

Mr. Roosevelt squeezed the royal hand and appealed to his interpreter.

"What does he say?" he asked.

"You ought to make that out," the interpreter laughed. "He says 'Delighted.'"

ONE OF THE EXACTIONS.

"Did you people get that cook we sent around to you?"

"No."

"Why not?"

"She wouldn't take the place."

"Family too big?"

"No."

"What did you offer her?"

"O, the wages were all right."

"Didn't like her room, I suppose."

"Upon the contrary."

"What was the matter, then?"

"She passed us up because we haven't both phones."

Invitations to Burglars.

Here is a bit of testimony volunteered by a retired burglar which ought to be seriously considered by women who have the habit of decking themselves out in all their jewelry every time they go into the street. "Almost every really successful haul I ever made in the jewelry line," said he, "was the result of plans carefully laid after shadowing some woman that looked like a walking jeweler's showcase. It wasn't worth while wasting my talent on a house that didn't contain anything worth taking chances on. I never went into anything blindly. In order to make no mistake as to the value of the plunder I just watched the beringed, the bediamonded ladies in the streets and shops and followed them till I found out where they lived, then, when the opportunity came, I sailed in."

A Mis-Named Flower.

A common mistake in naming a well-known wild flower is corrected by Mr. T. B. Parker in Suburban Life for August, when he says: "The rudbeckias are more popularly known as cone flowers and probably the most familiar of them is the black-eyed Susan, because of the fact that it grows wild over the greater portion of the United States. In the East it is more commonly known as the ox-eyed daisy, while in the West it is frequently spoken of as the 'nigger-head.' The black-eyed Susan is a biennial and can be cultivated in any garden. It has a flower about two or two and one-half inches in diameter. The center is a brownish black, while the ray-flowers are a golden yellow. The black-eyed Susan flowers from late June to September."

The trail ran from Missouri through Kansas and Colorado into New Mexico.

MRS. C. H.—Gilt picture frames may be brightened by taking sufficient flowers of sulphur to give a golden tinge to a pint of water, and in this boil three bruised onions. Strain off this liquid and with it, when cold, wash the gilding with a soft brush. Never attempt to clean a gilt frame with a damp cloth or a water application. A chamois is perhaps the best thing to use, but any dry cloth will do.

?.—"In a controversy between A. and B, A says that he will beat B in 100 yards run, finish a dead heat.' B claims that A must beat him. B claims that if it is a dead heat it is a draw. Which is right?" The controversy is a mere quibble in words. Technically A did not fulfil his boast that he would win; but in all sporting matters a tie is a draw. It would be unfair of B to hold A to his literal words unless a previous agreement that ties were barred had been reached.

XX.—You may wash white Holland (linen) shades as you would lace curtains. Tack them upon a doubled sheet laid upon a clean floor and scrub with a clean brush and suds made of warm water and borax soap. Rinse, using a fresh brush, with clear water and leave them tacked until almost dry. Then cover with a damp cloth and iron. Or you may tack them fast and scrub both sides in turn with hot flour and salt applied with a pretty stiff brush. After the scrubbing cover with a clean supply of the salted flour, throw a cloth over them to exclude dust and leave thus 24 hours.

G. C. B.—You write: My sleeping room was the front room on first floor (last June) and one afternoon a sparrow flew in the window, and rested for a full half hour on my dresser while I was lying on the bed, and last Tuesday afternoon while I was walking along a sparrow flew in front of me so close that its wing struck my skirt; it rose from the ground to my left and flew directly in front of me, crossing my path, and then again this evening another one and on a different street, too, arose at my right and flew in a half circle to cross in front of me; this one struck my hand. Everyone tells me it is a "token." Some say it is good, others bad. What do you think? It may be that you have some attraction for sparrows, just as some persons are followed by every dog. There are pretty stories about up to date fairy lore of a bird and visiting mortals, but we haven't any facts. It is true that sparrows have been unusually bold this summer. One of them even visited the Answers department. We do not think any harm will come to you from your experience with the birds.

THE TEMPERAMENTAL HUSBAND.

No. 19 in the List of 20 Undesirables Maids Are Advised to Avoid. Done for the Post-Dispatch

BY NIXOLA GREELEY-SMITH.

NIXOLA GREELEY SMITH

IF Heaven ever happened to endow the Husband With a Temperament with anything else, he might not be such a troublesome creature to live with. But men who can afford temperaments can seldom afford anything else. Automobiles, country estates and racing stables are, by comparison with the possession of a temperament, cheap amusements.

For the temperamental husband feels that he can afford to be poor, and he who cherishes that easy doctrine will never take the trouble to be otherwise.

Such a husband, be he writer, painter or musician, spends his leisure reviling what he terms the base commercial spirit of America. He sighs for the "true field of art"—otherwise Europe, but as his temperament wouldn't command 10 cents a week there, base necessity compels him to remain in his own country, where, at least, he has a chance to work whenever he doesn't feel too much like loafing.

Is the Husband With a Temperament a Musician? Then he declares that his compositions fail to sell because he is too true to the classical spirit, which is not appreciated in a world ruled by graft and ragtime. Is he a writer? With every returning manuscript comes the consoling reflection that Walter Pater and Matthew Arnold, were they alive today, would fare as ill. Sometimes in his rare moments of discouragement he wonders if the great writers of the past had their moments of inspiration dissipated by the inopportune appearance of a wife making a commonplace demand for money to pay the bills.

And what a time this wife has getting the money, to be sure. Timidly she glides into the presence of the disheveled scribe, whose agitated pen-point has spouted sheets of inspiration all over the floor. She is followed by a burly gas man.

"John, dear!" she says apologetically, "this man says he has to turn the gas off this minute unless we make a payment on the bill."

John looks up from his MS.—as Moses might have looked had some one interrupted the reading of the tablets of the law by a cat-call.

"Leave me, woman!" he exclaims. "At such a moment I cannot be interrupted for such petty things!"

While this may impress the wife, it fails to cow the menial of the gas company, and after a night of sputtering candles and an uncooked dinner the wife of the Husband With a Temperament goes to her father and borrows the money.

Generally, this wife believes in her husband. It is much easier than not to believe in your husband, particularly when you have, more or less, to support him, anyhow.

Quite often he is easier to live with than the more normal male. He is better at small compliments and small attentions. Frequently, too, his wife is the better man of the two. So perhaps she doesn't find him quite such a nuisance as the world believes. The same fate that tempers the wind to the shorn lamb blows the Husband With a Temperament to the capable wife. But it's an ill wind for her, just the same.

HENRY VIII AND ANNE BOLEYN.

A Tragedy That Began in a Flirtation. The Tale Retold for the Post-Dispatch.

BY ALBERT PAYSON TERHUNE.

A GIRL who was so beautiful that people overlooked the deformity of her having two thumbs on each hand changed the religion and history of England by means of a silly flirtation. The girl with the double set of thumbs was Anne Boleyn, daughter of a sixteenth century politician. The man with whom she undertook to flirt was His (more of less) Gracious Majesty King Henry VIII of England.

Henry was great-grandson of Owen Tudor. He found England a third-rate European power. By his personal genius and statecraft he made it one of the foremost nations of the earth. As a mere boy he had been married, for reasons of state, to his elder brother's widow, Catherine of Aragon. She was many years older than he, and was an invalid and of a melancholy, pious nature. Henry was athletic, jolly and not much given to piety. There was nothing about such a woman as Catherine to interest him. Moreover, they had no living children except one sickly daughter, Mary. And Henry longed for a son to carry on his fame. Yet he would probably have remained true to Catherine to the end of her days if he had not chanced to meet Anne Boleyn.

Anne was one of Catherine's maids of honor. She managed to attract Henry's attention and started a violent flirtation with him. That she at first dared expect the affair to go further is doubtful. But Henry, who hitherto had paid little heed to such temptations, fell violently in love with her. She had the beauty, youth and gayety his wife lacked. Anne quite easily won him from the poor, gentle old Queen. The latter had no charms wherewith to combat the younger woman's art.

As soon as she saw Henry was seriously interested in her Anne set all her wits to work to make herself Queen. The upshot of the matter was that Henry decided to get rid of Catherine of Aragon. But this was not easily done. The Catholic Church did not recognize divorce. Moreover, Catherine's nephew, Charles V of Germany, was too powerful a sovereign for the Pope to offend. Henry solved the problem by wrenching England away from its Catholic allegiance, and proclaiming himself the head of the English Church. In this new capacity he arranged that the marriage with his brother's widow be pronounced null and void. Then, freed from Catherine, he at once married Anne. The wedding occurred early in 1533. Anne, who had earlier received from the King the title of Countess of Pembroke was solemnly crowned Queen of England.

Her ambition was at last gratified. She had turned Henry's heart from his faithful old wife and had raised herself to the highest position in the land. Incidentally, she had changed England's creed, and in so doing started an almost endless chain of religious persecution, murders, executions, etc. Not that this troubled her at all. For three years she and Henry governed England together. They had one daughter, Elizabeth, who was destined one day to become her country's greatest queen. Anne herself showed little gift for ruling.

At the end of three years Henry's fickle fancy wandered from Anne to one of her young maids of honor, Jane Seymour. Here retribution set in. Anne was made to pay bitterly for her past misdeeds. As she, while maid of honor, had stolen Henry's love from his first wife, so now the younger, prettier Jane Seymour won Henry from Anne, and by much the same methods. Henry, infatuated with Jane, discovered he was heartily tired of Anne. Those double thumbs at last began to outweigh her good looks. He sought some plausible way to get rid of her. Courtiers helped him out by trumping up accusations against Anne. Among other crimes she was accused of treason. There is no reason for believing her guilty on any of the charges. But she was condemned to death. Plucky to the last, she wrote mockingly to the King, thanking him for all he had done for her, and ending with the words:

"You made me a marchioness, then a queen. And as you can raise me no higher in the world you are now sending me to be a saint in heaven."

Whether or not she was accurate in this prophecy as to her destination, she was beheaded May 19, 1536. Henry took great credit to himself for mercifully allowing her to be thus executed, instead of burning her at the stake. The next day he married Jane Seymour.

Jane did not live long to enjoy her triumph. After she died Henry married in quick succession three more wives. His good luck, his health, his personality—some think even his sanity as well—had deserted him from the day he cast aside Catherine of Aragon to marry Anne Boleyn.

FOR CHILDREN'S RASHES

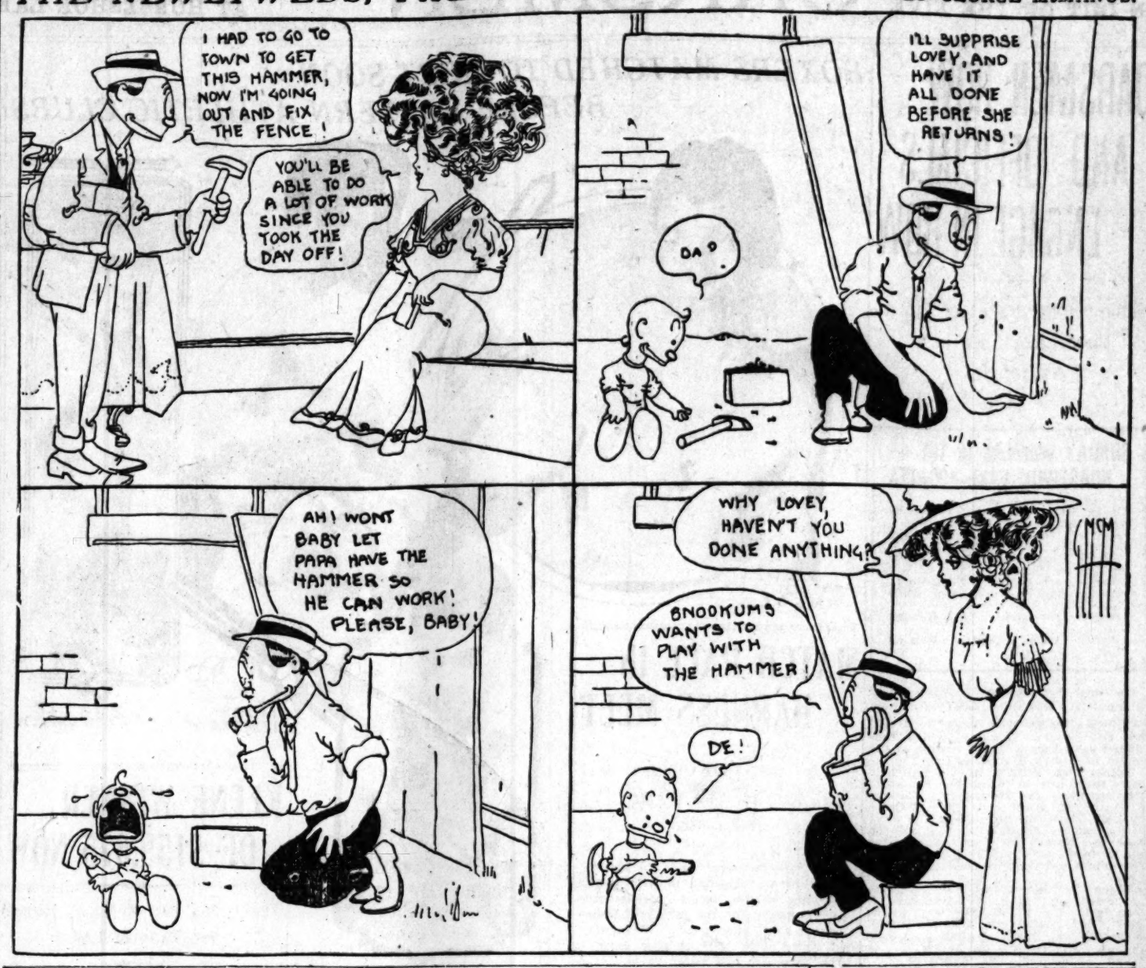

Here is a quick relief when the child's flesh is burning and itching from bites, scratches, poison, or any other cause that has brought out a skin rash. Place a soft cloth wet with X-Zalia over the rash and keep it there until the flesh has absorbed all the liquid—continue to wet the cloth as often as possible, and the itching will stop and the rash heal in a surprisingly quick time. X-Zalia can be bought at any drug store.

TESS ON HER AUTO OUTING.

The Breezy Waitress Enjoys a Season of Display Which Enables Her to Bask in Others' Envy. Reported for the Post Dispatch

BY JOSEPH A. FLYNN.

HOW did you enjoy your automobile ride last evening?" I asked Tess at breakfast this morning, meanwhile wondering how far a piece of bacon about the size of a silver dollar will go toward appeasing a perfect appetite.

"Always ask those questions about forty times louder," Tess replied. "I want a certain party on the other side of the table to hear home runs like that, because she's always making cracks about going out in a machine every night, though the only machine I ever saw her in was the regular kind, with a conductor on the back platform.

"You ought to have been along last night. We certainly had a swell machine. The fellow who owned it is Adrian's left ear. Two months ago he didn't know what a square meal felt like, and was thinking seriously of making a hole in the cool river; but one day a relative in some town off the map gave the undertaker a job, and Walter fell in for a pile. Adrian was pretty good to him when he belonged to the Sons of Rest, and now Walter thinks nothing's too good for Adrian. And last night they both rolled around in a big red machine and took me out.

"I certainly looked the goods, even though I do say it myself, and I wore my new blue Prince Chap suit. I got the material for almost nothing from that salesman for the remnant house on the third floor front, and had it done up by that French pirate around the corner, but never again for her. I borrowed Lizzie's new hat and her $5 veil, the one she got for a nickel a chance at some church bazaar the other night.

"The John Henry who raffled it off was a friend of Lizzie's, but Mrs. Starvem says he must have had her number sleeping between his fingers when his hand dived into the hay, and while I only met the gentleman once, still I wouldn't put it past him.

"While Walter and Adrian were in the parlor waiting for me to fix up my crowning glory Mrs. Starvem waltzed in and threw out a bushel of hints for a ride, saying her doctor ordered her to take a spin in an automobile every morning, or afternoon, or evening, for her lumbago, nervousness, rheumatism and vertigo. But Walter never fell, and since then she's been as hot under the collar as a bootblack on a rainy day.

"Everybody in the house gave us a good send-off, but the trick that was pulled off on the corner, outside of George's cafe, got my goat. Oh, you know the place, all right. When the machine came along Whiskerino ambled out of the front door with a couple of more settlers, and they handed my front name around like one of last year's straw hats. I thought I'd pass away right then and there, but Adrian told me to keep on the ground; and the next time they meet Whiskerino is going to get a gentle call that'll make him dizzy.

"Do you see that Henrietta over there with the striped waist monopolizing the pickles; you know, the one I told you about that walks into a store and invests in a ten-cent piece of ruching with as much breeze as if she was buying a ticket to the North Pole? Well, just as we were coming out of the park at Lindell and King's highway, who should be standing on the sidewalk but her, with a long drink of water beside her, in a blue serge suit; and Adrian said he must have been measured for the trousers while standing up to his ankles in water. The moment I piked her off I made Walter work that horn for keeps, but she never turned a hair; and I am willing to bet she was wise all the time that it was me in the machine."

"Well, what of that?" I rejoined, waiting for my turn at the milk. "You had a delightful ride on a warm night, and then again, did it matter whether she saw you or not?"

"This world is traveling along too quick for you." Tess replied, moving the bread plate out of reach of a young lady opposite. "What do you think I went out for—my health?"

HARPERS

August Fiction Number

THERE has never been a more interesting or more beautiful magazine than the August Harper's—the midsummer fiction number. There are nine short stories in this number—stories of the kind that you can't find elsewhere—the best stories of every sort, among them a deliciously funny story of a dog by Ellis Parker Butler. It is the funniest thing he has ever written.

In addition to these stories and many other notable articles, there are two really remarkable contributions in the fields of travel and psychical research.

Sven Hedin, the greatest living traveler, tells of his discovery of a range of mountains two thousand miles long and hitherto absolutely unknown. There can never be another such discovery, for nowhere on earth is there now an unexplored territory of similar extent.

Sir Oliver Lodge, one of the greatest of living men of science, tells what has actually been accomplished in psychical research up to date. He expresses his belief that communications have been received from persons after death.

There are twenty-eight pages of pictures in color and tint—pictures by the best of the world's illustrators.

RUSSIAN FEES.

HOW the Russian Government makes the unsuspecting importer pay the salaries of her customs inspectors is one of the interesting points of practical value in Mr. Alexander Hume Ford's article in the August issue of System.

"Back home we're so busy making stuff that we haven't time to study the Russian tariff and frame our invoices to correspond," an American in Nijni Novgorod explained to Mr. Ford in Russia. "A machine's a machine to us; to the Russian custom clerks, it's a thing which carries a separate duty for the steel shaft, another for the brass bearings, another for the copper it contains, and so on—with a good stiff fine for every failure to declare its character in accord with the regulations.

"You see,"—he turned to me in explanation—"the Government pays the clerks no salary—only allows them 2 cents for every mistake they discover in a foreign bill of lading. Naturally they're keen for errors, and the fines sometimes amount to almost as much as the regular duty."

SHERIDAN'S RIDE.

ONE cannot leave Winchester by the valley pike without unconsciously stepping to the cadence and rhythm of Thomas Buchanan Read's beautiful verses, for it was along this way that the intrepid Sheridan galloped his black horse Rienzi to the music of the guns at Cedar Creek. But did he? Two miles up the pike and fairly prancing with the exhilaration that strangely comes 'from riding over this historic span, you will meet a tall, lank Shenandoan; or he may be short and stout, says the Metropolitan Magazine. Anyway, he will take a sort of childish delight in despoiling your idol. Prepare for something like this:

"In the fust place, suh, it ain't no twenty miles t' Cedar Creek, not by quite a piece, I reckin. In the second place, Gin'l Sheridan had to go hawssback t' git thah. But, lawsy, man, it was all ovah when he got thah! I reckin it would be a pig of anothah littah, suh, if ol' Jube Early hadn't tuk jist a drap too much that mawnin'—yes, indeedy!"

Shocking as it all is to all of us whose declamatory honors on the last day of school were made possible by "Sheridan's Ride," the Shenandoan persists in disputing the cherished story and insists that Wright it was who saved the day at Cedar Creek. Inasmuch as Wright was Sheridan's brother officer, and no effort is made to detract from the glory of Federal arms, it appears their story has at least the element of sincerity.

Hopes Crushed.

"Some of us ought to be appointed to the police force," remarked the woman characterized by firmness of chin.

"And wear uniforms? How lovely!" added a younger sister.

"But like as not the horrid director would assign us to the plain clothes squad," suggested a third.

In view of this possibility enthusiasm oozed.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Slum.

"Papa, what is a slum?"

"Where the majority lives, my boy."—Life.

THERE IS DANGER IN TELEPHONES.

BY DR. FRANCIS J. ALLEN.

ONE can scarcely picture a more suitable place for harboring organisms of all kinds than a dark telephone booth, with its stagnant air and dirty floor, the dust of which is brought in from the street and stirred up and inhaled by every fresh caller.

There is, moreover, the risk that organisms of a pathogenic character may be left behind by persons suffering from such complaints as diphtheria, influenza or consumption. In five of the six mouthpieces tested the results obtained were negative as regards tubercle, but the examination of the sixth swab revealed the presence of typical tubercle bacilli, says Dr. Francis J. Allan in the Pittsburg Gazette-Times. As these call boxes are at present constructed and situated, it is difficult to imagine how in the absence of regular disinfection and cleansing they can be anything but the breeding-ground for germs. No doubt it is difficult to construct booths which shall be efficiently ventilated and at the same time prevent outside sounds penetrating and conversation being overheard, but it ought not to be an insuperable difficulty. The other condition (that the booths should be kept bacterially clean) presents no difficulty. Soap and water are always available, while the thorough spraying of the booth and the instrument with an approved disinfectant solution once a day might be carried out with very little labor and at a trifling expense. I am given to understand that by arrangement with the Postoffice the whole of the London Stock Exchange telephones—some forty or fifty in number—are sprayed daily with a disinfectant. In view of the infective condition of many of the public booths and instruments, the extension of this practice cannot be regarded as anything in excess of what is urgently demanded in the interest of the public.

WHY ALWAYS A BLACK BIBLE?

WHY should our Bibles always be bound in black? was a very pertinent question put by Bishop Tugwell. The Bishop viewed with satisfaction the many Bibles and prayerbooks of the Religious Tract Society bound in bright red cloth instead of the hitherto invariable black, a cloth which is mostly associated with what is melancholy. Bishop Tugwell would no doubt appreciate the brighter and more attractive colors for his heathen converts more especially.—Pall Mall Gazette.

BROWNS SEND ATHLETICS AWAY WITH ONLY ONE GAME WON OUT OF THE FIVE OARSMEN COLLIDE AND DISPUTE FOLLOWS IN REGATTA AT HORSESHOE LAKE COMMENT

BROWNS REST AFTER WINNING 7 OF 9 GAMES

McAleer's Men Welcome Idle Day, Sunday Victory Over Athletics Showing Pitchers Need Vacation.

By JAMES CRUSINBERRY

ED PLANK is said to be the most reliable left-handed pitcher in baseball today, but the St. Louis Browns drove him to the bench in less than six innings yesterday afternoon, when they won the final game of the series with the Athletics before a throng of 15,000 sweltering Sunday fans. The victory sent Philadelphia out of town with but one out of the five games played here, and it also moved the Browns up a notch in the race, for Detroit was thrashed soundly by the Boston Red Sox.

Today the Browns are but two full games from the lead. They have lost two out of nine games played on the home grounds since returning. This is an off day and the players need the rest before they begin a series of four battles with New York tomorrow.

The need of another pitcher for the Browns was evident yesterday. As Jack Powell is still unable to take his turn because of a sprained ankle, McAleer stuck Rube Waddell back in the box yesterday, and in t... innings it was seen he would not do. Harry Howell, who had worked Thursday, and should have had another day or two of rest, was compelled to take care of the last seven innings, which he did admirably, though in the ninth he was fagged and could not have pitched another inning on a bet.

Heavy Hitting Wins.

Heavy hitting by the Browns while Mr. Plank was cavorting in the box, clinched the victory with six runs. Jimmy Dygert took Plank's place after Ed had been treated so roughly by the Browns, and Jimmy held the home club down. Then it turned out that the six runs gathered off Plank were indeed fortunate, for when Howell weakened in the ninth the Athletics slugged him for a couple of counters and came within one run of tying the score, the final count being 6 to 5.

Only some sharp fielding by the Browns saved the game. Roy Hartzell made a one-handed stab of Harry Davis' line drive in the ninth just before it plunged into the crowd, fringing the right garden. There's no telling what might have happened had Roy not been so active.

When Plank had pitched three innings and the Athletics were leading by one run there was a general feeling among the fans that the Browns were not going to get at his peculiar crossfire delivery. Plank was grinning and displaying a beautiful set of teeth, just as he does when feeling confident.

Hit First One Served.

But in the fourth inning the Browns laid a little scheme for this demon of the slab. They all began hitting the first ball he pitched. They didn't give him a chance to get them in a hole. Plank's great fort in pitching is to get the batter in the hole, then hurl tantalizing cross-fire at him, just close enough to the corners of the plate to make him swing.

Consequently he always tried to get the first ball a strike and it is generally a curve right over the plate. For the next three innings nearly every one of the Browns' batters slugged that first ball and eight safe hits were made, every one being a crack at the first ball pitched. Then Plank was yanked to the bench, but the game had been won.

As usual, the St. Louis infield was much in evidence. If Manager McAleer and his boys win the pennant this year they will have to give a great deal of their success to the work of that infield. It's been years since a combination has been so successful as Ferris, Wallace, Williams and Tom Jones. Williams had a couple of errors yesterday, an exceedingly bad day for him, but both were excusable and only one was costly. He more than made up for the mistakes by two or three sparkling plays immediately after. He isn't the kind that goes in the air after making a mistake.

Browns Score At Start.

The Browns scored one run on the visitors at the start, when, with two men out, Plank shot a ball at Williams' ear. Jim ducked and threw up his arms, just enough to get hit and take his base. Wallace followed this with a drive to the exit in left field and Williams scored.

Waddell didn't have anything with which to fool his old mates yesterday. A double play extracted him from the mire in the first inning and that slugger, Dan Murphy, led off in the second. Dan poked the right-field fence for two bases. Davis bunted toward the Rube and Spencer and Rube both looked at each other and at the ball while Davis ran to first. Jimmy Collins laced one through Williams' feet, Jimmy trying for a hurry-up play with the hope of making a double. Murphy scored on the mistake. Wallace raced back of second and made a dandy catch of Nichols' pop fly. Then Schreck bunted and Tom Jones and Williams handled the ball beautifully, but Davis scored. Rube fanned Plank, but most any pitcher might do that.

Browns Tie the Score.

A timely swat by Tom Jones tied up the score in the fourth inning. Wallace had singled to begin, but was forced by Ferris. Charley Jones died on a bounce in front of the plate, but it showed Ferris to second. Tom Jones clouted a vicious drive to left that scored Ferris, but Tom tried to make his hit a double and was killed at second.

In the fifth inning, with one out, Howell, Stone and Hartzell all singled on the first ball pitched by Mr. Plank. That filled the bases. A wild pitch let Howell home and moved the other runner up. A fly to Murphy by Williams sent Stone home and Wallace popped in the air.

The sixth saw the finish of Plank. Ferris doubled and C. Jones popped to Plank, trying to sacrifice. Tom Jones drove Ferris home again with a slash to right field, taking second himself when Murphy heaved home. Spencer tore one to left field and Tom scored and Plank was taken from his misery, Dygert going into the box. Howell fanned. Then Spencer, to the surprise and admiration of all, stole second, it being his first steal of the year. Stone ended the inning with a grounder to M. Collins.

Davis Hits Over Fence.

Howell hadn't been hit until the seventh, when Harry Davis pitched one over the right field fence. Nothing further happened, though, until the ninth, when Harry was all in. Murphy opened with a double and Davis was out on that vicious liner that Hartzell speared with one hand. J. Collins walked. Both runners moved up on Nichols out. Howell was feeling weak and took a chance on Schreck, there being two out. He served him easy ones, and Ossie lined to left for a single that scored Murphy and Collins. Seybold batted for Dygert and Howell was compelled to pitch. He threw nothing but the spitter, and Big Soxy rolled a ground-er to Wallace, ending the game.

Crusinberry's Comment On the Game

Just before the game yesterday, McAleer and Connie Mack swapped catchers. Bert Blue of the Browns was given, even up, for Sid Smith of the Athletics. Smith is a sturdily built fellow, the kind that McAleer likes to guard the home plate. Blue's weakness was in blocking runs at the plate though his arm has been sore and his throwing bad this year. Smith is really a heavy hitter, but has not struck his stride this season. Smith led the catchers of the Southern League last season in hitting and has batted better than .200 in the big league this season, many of his hits being for extra bases. He is undoubtedly a more reliable man than Blue and McAleer has no time to experiment with players when he is but two games from the lead in the race for the pennant.

Roy Hartzell's work was most conspicuous. He had two hits and a stolen base. He made two swell catches, one of them probably saving the game in the ninth inning, when he ran toward the foul line, avoiding the feet of the spectators and speared a liner by Davis just before it went into the crowd.

Plank struck out five men in the first three innings. Then his side aim was spoiled and the Browns began plugging him.

Harry Howell will leave today for a fishing jaunt up the river. He will return tomorrow night and will pitch Wednesday if necessary, though it is hardly likely he will be needed 'till Thursday.

Howell has worked in 24 games this season and his opponents have averaged a little more than 2½ runs to the game but this included four or five bad days he had in May when six runs were scored on him in four different games. He has won six straight games now.

Jack Powell will be able to pitch one of the New York games if he keeps on improving. Bailey will probably work in the opener Tuesday.

Murphy and Davis form the chief offense of the Athletics. Yesterday those two scored four of the five runs and made four of the six hits. Murphy had two doubles and Davis had a single and a home run.

OARSMEN ROW AND OFFICIALS ENGAGE IN ROW

Senior Four Race at Horseshoe Lake Ends in a Wrangle.

SUNDAY WINNERS IN THE HORSESHOE LAKE REGATTA

Gregg Cup and Medal race—Gus Heldt, North End Rowing Club.
Senior single — Joe Lepping, Mound City Rowing Club.
Senior gig—Oscar Wolff, Western Rowing Club.
Senior pair—Century Boat Club.
Senior double—North Side Boat Club, Quincy, Ill.
Senior four—Mound City Rowing Club.
Senior barge — Centra Rowing Club.

Oarsmen from the North Side Club of Quincy, Ill., will take home with them anything but pleasant memories of the 1908 Southwestern regatta, which concluded yesterday with the rowing of the senior events at Horseshoe Lake.

Quincy had a crew in the half-mile dash for fours, in which the St. Louis Rowing Club, the Mound City Rowing Club and the South Side Club of Quincy had crews entered. Near the close of the race the South Side's boat collided with the North Side's four, then right up in front, and a foul was declared, the judges ordering the race to be rowed over.

When the time came for the event to be rowed over, after the barge race, it was dark. The North Sides went to the start, but found no officials there. Nevertheless, they rowed over the course. There were no judges at the finish, either. Having complied with the agreement, they demanded that the race be awarded to them. But the Mound City boat went to the start a few minutes later and, likewise, rowed over the course.

There were no officials in either case, and neither row-over was given official credit.

May Quit Association.

A meeting of the association officials was held, it being finally agreed to call the race no contest. Thus, for the second time, the North Sides have lost a race through an official ruling. The club declares that it will drop out of the Southwestern Association.

When A. Bechestobill and John Meyer of the Century Boat Club, winners of the junior singles, won the senior event they finished outside of the outside flag marking the course. Instantly the Mound City men filed a protest. It was pointed out that Joe Lepping of the Mound City Rowing Club had also finished outside of the course, so the wrangle ended and the races were allowed to stand as rowed.

Lepping Springs Surprise.

Lepping's victory was a surprise. In fact, "form" was generally upset. John L. Joachim, the Western Rowing Club star; Joe Lepping of the Mound Citys, Oliver Allison of the South Sides of Quincy, Ill., and Fred Korte of the Western R. C. were the starters. Lepping won by less than a length, Joachim was second only the same distance ahead of Allison. The Mound City four won the senior four-oared race as was generally expected, easily by three lengths.

In the senior double and senior barge races "dark horses" won out. George Timme and William Zimmerman of the North Ends did the unexpected when they won the senior double scull event, beating Grosjean and Joachim of the Westerns and Lepping and Louis Joachim of the St. Louis Rowing Club. The winners walked right away from their opponents at the finish. Joachim and Dilg beat out John Joachim and Grosjean by less than a length.

Central Barge Winners.

The result of the senior barge race stunned the members of the other clubs with the exception of the Centrals. The Centrals won the junior race Saturday. The Mound Citys were generally counted on as sure winners in this event, but the wearers of the orange and black, in spite of some desperate rowing, could do no better than second, the Centrals winning handily by a length.

In the senior gig race Oscar Wolff of the Westerns had a walkover when Joe Lepping of the Mound Citys quit after rowing a short distance. Wolff having such a lead at that time that Lepping had small chance to win.

A crowd of less than 5000 persons witnessed the races.

As O'Connor had the upper hand Papke had to give into this weight.

BOXERS MATCHED TO MEET SOON BEFORE EASTERN ATHLETIC CLUBS

MATCH RACE IN HARNESS MEET

Angola and Lake Queen May Race for Side Wager and Purse.

Many visitors journeyed to the historic Fair Grounds yesterday to witness the work-outs of the horses, which were being prepared for the coming trotting meeting that opens next Wednesday and which will continue four days.

The horsemen are delighted with the track. A perfect cushion has been formed on it. This condition can be attributed to the oil that was placed on the course during the automobile races. Nearly all of the candidates are now at the track, and the majority of them are in the best condition.

Among the late arrivals at the track were the stables of Dick McMahon, Harrie Jones, Allen Bros., Fred. Barnbock, Ed. Erwin, J. M. Smith, C. A. Keynes, Ed. Elliott, J. W. Hicks, H. C. Cheney, the Boston millionaire, T. L. Britton and N. Todhunter.

The latter's stable is quartered the fastest three-year-old filly in the world over a half-mile track. She is called Annona, and she will make her appearance in the 2:11 pace.

The "wise men" at the track are sweet on the chances of Countess B, she has started six times this season, won four and finished second in her other two starts. The work of Jean has caused much comment. She is ready and is fit to make the race of her life. Joe Ward and Gordon Prince worked very fast yesterday as did Miss Bobbie.

Brace Girdle, Dixie Craig, Belle Sprague, Onoqua Gentry, Raymond F. and Nellie C came on the course late in the afternoon, but they were only "breezed."

In all probability there will be a match race carded between W. H. Smollinger's Angeola and Harrie Jones' Lake Queen. Both of these owners think their charge is the faster, and are willing to wager $1000 each, providing the association will add a big purse.

Secretary Bert Hoffman after conferring with Max Orthwein, Lacy Crawford, James H. Bright and William Eversole stated that they would give a purse of $600 for the match. If the arrangements are satisfactory to all parties this race will be carded next Saturday.

The Master Horse Shoers' Association will attend the races in a body on the opening day.

M'FARLAND WILL NOT FIGHT WELSH ON DATE SCHEDULED

Ketchel-Papke Bout Follows Too Soon, Declares the Chicagoan.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 3.—Packey McFarland will not fight Freddie Welsh, the English bantamweight at Jeffries' Los Angeles club on Sept. 9, according to Harry Gilmore, McFarland's manager.

Gilmore objected to the Ketchel-Papke fight taking place at the club on Sept. 7, as he declared that the Ketchel-Papke fight would hurt the drawing power of the McFarland-Welsh contest.

Youth Wins Long Swim.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—The annual five and a half-mile swim from East 100th street to North Beach was won by John Gilday, an 18-year-old youth, in 2h. 22m. Nine swimmers were forced to swim through Hell Gate, but none of the men met with any mishaps.

Latest Fight Gossip By Wire

BY JOHN POLLOCK

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.

STANLEY KETCHEL, the middleweight champion, did not realize much out of his victory over Hugh Kelly, the Chicagoan, at San Francisco Friday night, he receiving only $2673, which included the extra 10 per cent bonus of the receipts. Kelly, for being knocked out, got $1336 and an extra $500 for traveling and training expenses. The receipts of the fight were extremely disappointing, there being only $6680 taken at the door.

Abe Attell, the featherweight champion, and Owen Moran, the English fighter, arrived at San Francisco last night. When both fighters had been informed by Jimmy Coffroth that Jim Jeffries had refused to referee their championship fight on Labor day afternoon, they immediately announced that they would meet today, sign a new set of articles of agreement and select a referee. Jack Welsh will possibly get the job.

Bill Hurley, the promising middleweight of Glenfalls, N. Y., who has been fighting in great form for some time, was rematched last night to meet Harry Mansfield, the English fighter, for six rounds, at a show to be brought off by the Saratoga Athletic Club of Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Thursday night.

Billy Papke, the Western cyclone middleweight, has arrived in Boston and began training today at Northboro, Mass., for his 12-round bout with Willie Lewis, the local middleweight, which will be decided at the Armory A. A. of Boston on the night of Aug. 12. Papke is only a few pounds over the weight, 158 pounds, and will be below that mark by Thursday. Lewis also is under the required weight.

"I think I have an excellent chance of beating Sam Langford when I meet him at the Fairmount A. C. stag on Friday night," said Tony Ross, the big husky heavyweight, at Newdorp, S. I., today. "I have seen Langford and I am pretty well acquainted with his fighting. I have been anxious to meet him for some time and now that the opportunity is at hand I am sure I will give him a harder battle than the others did."

"Fighting Dick Hyland is in great shape for his six-round fight with Rudolph Unholz which is to be decided at the Navarre A. C. tomorrow night. He has been training faithfully for the contest at Atlantic City and says that if he loses he will have no excuse to offer. Unholz is also fit for a gruelling battle, and as they are evenly matched they should put up a great fight.

Packey McFarland will meet Phil Brock, the Cleveland lightweight, on Friday night for ten rounds before the Pacific A. C. of Los Angeles. Brooks' victory over Frank Carsey, whom he knocked out in the 25th round at Jim Jeffries' club a short time ago, has made him many friends who intend to bet on him to beat McFarland. Packey is a big favorite at 2 to 1.

ROYAL YACHTS RACE AT COWES

American Boat Also Among Craft Competing in the Aristocratic Regatta.

COWES, Aug. 3.—The Cowes regatta, the concluding event of the social season, was opened today under the most favorable auspices. The anchorage off the town is crowded with yachts representing all nations, among them being the King's new cruiser Alexandra, with members of the royal family aboard; Emperor William's racing schooner Meteor, the Prince of Wales' Corisande, Morton F. Plants Iolando, flying the Stars and Stripes, and many other vessels.

There will be several races in which interest is keen, particularly that for the 23-meters class in which Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock, Myles B. Kennedy's White Heather, Sir James Penders Brynhild, and Robert Young's Nyria, composing the best quartet of first-class racing cutters seen in many years, are entered.

The Brynhild finished first and the Shamrock second in the 23-meter class.

The Britomart won the international challenge cup in 3h. 44m. and 46s. The Shimna was second and the Masona was third. The Maziska dropped out of the race.

DUFFY DEVELOPER OF TALENT

Providence Man Gives Youngsters Benefit of His Experience.

Hugh Duffy of the Providence club is certainly a developer of talent. Last season he took McConnell, McQuillin and Lord and gave the youngsters the benefit of his inside experience, so that the boys have more than held their own in fast company this season.

Judging from the way his team is playing for the last two weeks, it looks as if Duffy would have several good boys rope for the majors next season.

KEENE WINNER OF $159,575 NOW

This Is Not Half of Money Earned for Turfman Last Season.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 3.—James R. Keene's turf winnings this season will not amount to more than half the sum his horses won last year. They earned $400,000 for him, which was a record amount, not only for turf earnings in this country, but in the world. This year his horses have won $159,575.

Although Mr. Keene is the leading winning owner, he has many close rivals for the honor. John E. Madden, with $135,000 to his credit, is gaining steadily on the leader. The failure of the Wall street magnate to win more money was due to the early collapse of Colin and Celt and the failure of his 2-year-olds to live up to the great promise that they gave as yearlings.

First Important Stake.

Up to yesterday not one of the colts had won an important stake event. Helmet, Selectman and Turncoat were disappointments, and their earnings were small. It was not until Hilarious won the United States Hotel Stakes, worth $8500 net, that the colt sprang into prominence as a breadwinner.

Whatever glory and gold that the younger division gave to the stable was due to the fillies Melisande and Suffragette. They were the chief winners outside of Colin and Ballott.

The failure of the Brighton Beach Racing Association to maintain their stake events unquestionably cost Mr. Keene $60,000, the very lowest estimate, as the horses were well engaged in races worth in the aggregate $200,000. Ballot would certainly have won the majority of the races in which he was eligible, and Melisande would have been deprived of the filly stakes only by accident.

Saratoga Special Next.

Next Saturday the Saratoga Special, the most valuable race here, will be decided. It is worth in the aggregate close to $30,000. It is a subscription affair of $1000 each for a nomination. Subscribers may make as many nominations as they wish. Forty-two subscriptions have been made. Non-starters will have to pay $500.

Mr. Madden has three subscriptions and Mr. Keene two. Each subscription permits a man to name three horses, one of whom may be started. It is known that Madden's colts, Sir Martin and Fayette, will go to the post. They will be ridden by Jockeys Shilling and Miller. Mr. Keene will send to the post Helmet and Wedding Bells. Notter and Shreve will have the mounts respectively. Maskette is not eligible for this event.

After Sir Martin and Fayette have filled their engagements in the Futurity, Flatbush, Junior, Champion, Matron and Champagne stakes, I will ship them to England," said John E. Madden today. "They are both eligible for the Epsom Derby and the Grand Prix De Paris. I think these two colts are tthe best horses that I have bred."

AMERICANS BRING STADIUM FLAG POLE HOME WITH THEM

Stars and Stripes Also Presented to Yankees by English Official.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—American athletes have all left London, some for home, some for Ireland and the remainder for the Continent, and everybody is trying to forget the feeling engendered by the Olympic games except some of the anti-American weekly papers.

An incident connected with the athletes to Paris attracted considerable favorable notice on the part of Americans. When the men went to arrange for transportation they received a telegram from the French committee saying:

"Buy no tickets. We have sent you 20 free passes to Paris."

Lord Desborough made a present of the American flag which so often signaled victory during the Olympic games to Mr. Gustavus Kirby, a member of the American committee. He also gave him the 10-foot flagpole on which the American flag floated from the top of the Stadium. Mr. Kirby had the latter crated and sent home.

WRAY'S COLUMN.

NO oasis in a desert could be more welcome to a thirsty caravan than the breathing spell afforded by today's break in the Browns' schedule. In short, but for today's rest, owing to the condition of the team's pitching department, the club would have been in a quandary as to what player to use in the box. Furthermore, for the next ten days McAleer will be content if the team holds its own in the race, pending the time when Pitcher John Powell returns to the game.

Yesterday the pitching department was in a decrepit condition. Waddell had nothing. Whether it was the crawfishing expedition of Saturday that kept his mind from his work, or whether the terrific heat affected him, the variest tyro could have outthrown Rube. His famous "jump" ball was not on duty and disaster stared him in the face from the moment he began throwing. Howell, who succeeded him, was so exhausted at the end of his seven inning journey that it was more good fortune than strong pitching that stopped the Philadelphia rally in the ninth on the safe side of the Browns' total.

With these two men out, Dinneen showing little but courage his last two games, Graham ill and Powell limping around with the aid of a cane, the defensive outlook for the Browns is not encouraging. The day of rest will serve to put them all on edge.

Yankees Come Next.

Fortunately, New York is the visiting club, and the work should not be so strenuous as it has been against Philadelphia. But back in the rear is the menacing Boston hoodoo which played havoc with Detroit during the recent series, and which has so far had the Indian sign on the Browns. It is in line this trip that the Browns will atone for their miserable showing against the Red Sox, if the club can just face that aggregation with its good pitchers really going at their best.

Club-swinging press athletes, who had the Browns on the rollers after that Eastern trip, will again have to revise their proofs on the future of the Browns. Instead of being on the decline the Browns have shown form which, if maintained spells P-E-N-N-A-N-T to a certainty. Against Washington the club won three games and fought to 16 innings in the one battle they lost to the Senators. Against Philadelphia the Browns won four of five played, the game lost again being an extra inning contest. It was big Bill Dinneen that lost both games. Bill is being worked too much. Although apparently a powerful athlete, Dinneen has shown that he cannot stand hard work and a trip to the box once in every six games is about all this sterling pitcher can stand.

Again Up to Pitchers.

Thus it is to be seen that the Browns' future presents exactly the same phase now that it did at the start of the season—a large "IF" in connection with the pitching department.

IF Powell comes round, IF Dinneen makes good, IF Howell can stand the pace for the rest of the season and IF Waddell can be kept interested in the race, the Browns are sure to be fighting at the last. So far the "IFS," with the exception of that dubious quantity Waddell, have all been answered favorably; and there is at least ground for hope that they will be again.

Racing vs. Baseball.

HARNESS horse enthusiasts think their meeting, which opens here Aug. 5 and continues through Aug. 8, will be enough of a success to justify their making the event an annual one. Messrs. Bright and Hoffman think that they can draw crowds to the Fair Grounds in spite of the fact that the Browns are in town and will be playing a team they seem certain to win from.

At first sight one would decide against the fate of the harness proposition; but St. Louis has been a long time without horses and even though only the sulky game be substituted, it may afford some change from the monotony of a season of just baseball. Then again—and hist—there will be more than racing out there.

It's betting that you will be able to find, if they can get away with it before Gov. Folk gets his snickersnee after them. The association doesn't know this, but the handbook men about town all do. A number of them have expressed their intention of doing business in a quiet way at the track, and this will doubtless serve to keep up the interest of the horsemen, at least.

Racing Is to Be of Class.

The meeting, however, seems to be worth while on purely racing grounds. Some excellent horses are stabled at the track, and the condition of the course justifies the management's announcement that the best racing of the kind ever seen in St. Louis will be seen.

But horseracing, even of the harness variety, is a matter of opinion. And it's the knowledge that you can back your opinion without being arrested that formerly made the game popular elsewhere.

Incidentally, St. Louis, in harness circles, is probably unique in that it really has a gentleman's sporting club where just the honor and the moderate-priced trophies offered furnish the sole incentive for racing.

Up at Waterworks Park they race for prizes of small cash value without betting. The meeting does not make any money, but its members are sportsmen and find enough amusement in the game without the speculative end.

The expense involved in the Fair Grounds meeting may handicap its efforts to break even financially. But, as all the stakes are guaranteed the racing is sure to be beneficial to horse owners, and will doubtless be welcomed by them.

Bring Regatta Closer.

BEFORE the next Southwestern Rowing Association Regatta takes place it is hoped that the authorities in charge of the meet will have turned their eyes away from Illinois as a possible scene of the 1909 events. Horseshoe Lake may be able to offer more money than Creve Coeur, but as a place for holding the events it did not appeal to those who had to take the long journey from St. Louis to see yesterday's contests in the senior races.

The association was unable to get its customary bonuses from the resorts at Creve Coeur, or from the railroad, for holding the event at the customary course. Probably the inkeepers at the Lake felt that lid-lifting was too uncertain to risk offering big money for the contest.

Horseshoe Lake contributed $1000 and so secured the 1908 regatta. That sum goes a long way toward paying the expenses of the regatta and the Southwestern Association felt compelled to accept the terms.

But although the races were in the main successful, the race will undoubtedly be brought back to Creve Coeur next season, provided the regatta is awarded to St. Louis.

CAUGHT ON THE FLY

Does not seem to be much choice as between Catchers Blue and Smith, who were yesterday exchanged by the St. Louis and Philadelphia clubs. Blue can hit and can't catch. Smith can catch and can't hit.

Blue, in 11 games, hit the ball for a .375 average. Criss was the only Brownie to top him, he increasing his figures slightly last week.

Spencer stole second yesterday and the crowd laughed as if it were a joke. It is really strange that Spencer is not better on the bases, for he can cover 50 yards in really creditable time.

Hartzell's .274 in the batting figures may not be a Ty Cobb percentage, but it's many a run Roy has sent across the plate with his hard hitting.

Boston has a good chance to show her good will toward the Browns by defeating Detroit today.

New York will have a hurry-up trip from Cleveland here to make connections with tomorrow's engagement. The trip will not do that already shaky club any good.

Not even the fat lunch at the expense of the Cardinals could get Johnny McGraw's team out of third place. The Cubs are hanging on well now and will be hard to pass Stone is still slugging around the .300 division, but Hartzell is driving in more runs of late.

That Boston bunch surely had a batting eye yesterday. Sixteen hits off Killian and Donovan. It was the bad end of Boston's batting order that did most of the damage.

Evansville is reported to have sold Outfielder Kustus and Catcher Dunn to the Reds, the former for $2000 and the latter for $1500.

Cincinnati has purchased two new players.

Ferris has improved his batting average in the past two weeks.

Howell and Dineen continue to be the only pitchers of the Browns who can occasionally hit the ball for results. Dineen has fallen away in his batting to .262, after having a .300 figure part of his season, while Howell is doing .222.

All the Cardinal leaders have fallen away in the batting since going on the Eastern trip.

AMERICANS AGAIN WINNERS IN PARIS ATHLETIC MEET

Frenchmen Receive Yankees Much More Enthusiastically Than the English.

PARIS, Aug. 3.—J. C. Carpenter won the 400-meter race and H. A. Gidney won the high jump at the special athletic games held yesterday in which Americans competed.

William F. Hamilton annexed the 100-meter race from scratch. H. L. Trube took the 1500-meter run. E. T. Cook of Cornell won the pole vault.

The Americans made a great showing and were given a warm reception.

S.S.S. CONTAINS NO MERCURY

Medicines containing Mercury are often given to persons suffering with Contagious Blood Poison, and so powerful is the action of this drug that it frequently removes the symptoms in a short while, and shuts the disease up in the system to do greater damage to the delicate internal members. When, however, the treatment is left off, the disease always returns, and the patient finds that his health has been injured by this powerful mineral, and he is often left with weak stomach, disturbed digestion, mercurial rheumatism, etc. The action of S. S. S. is entirely different. It contains no Mercury, nor any other harmful drug, but is made entirely of healing, cleansing roots and herbs. It cures Contagious Blood Poison by removing the virus from the blood. It searches out every particle of the poison and does not leave the least trace for future outbreaks. S. S. S., in addition to curing the disease, builds up and strengthens every part of the body. Its fine tonic effects tone up the stomach and digestion, improve the appetite and regulate the entire system. Home treatment book containing valuable information about the different stages of the disease and any medical advice desired sent free to all who write. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

IRREGULAR OPENING IN N. Y. STOCKS

Amalgamated Copper Makes Big Gain in the Opening Transaction.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3, 10 a. m.—The stock market opened irregular this morning. Changes from Saturday's closing were almost entirely confined to fractions, with the declines in a majority. The feature of the opening transactions was the sharp rise in Amalgamated Copper. Closing at 77, this stock opened with an advance of 1¼, which is a most unusual initial movement for it.

Smelting and Anaconda, the other prominent coppers, were about unchanged.

Steel common receded ¼, while the preferred gained the same amount. Lead and Consolidated Gas were at parity.

Atchison and the Harriman Pacifics opened at parity. Baltimore & Ohio, Brooklyn Rapid Transit and Missouri Pacific advanced ⅜ each, and the other rail stocks declined from ⅜ to ¾ point. Great Northern was the weakest at the opening.

The early trading developed weakness in most of the prominent issues.

Union Pacific declined ¼, Southern Pacific and Atchison ⅜ each, Reading, Pennsylvania and Northern Pacific ½ each, Canadian Pacific ¾ and Missouri Pacific lost ⅞. St. Paul was unchanged. Union Pacific was much the most active stock on the list.

The industrials sagged also, the Coppers being the severest losers.

It is another holiday in London and the Exchange is closed.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3, 12:30 p. m.—The irregular price movements at the opening were continued to noon. Losses and gains were about even. A number of stocks remained at their opening figures, among them being Anaconda, Steel Common and preferred, Canadian Pacific, Great Northern, Northern Pacific, Mo. Pacific and Union Pacific.

Lead was sensationally strong, advancing 3 points, and Smelting gained ⅜. St. Paul, Pennsylvania, Atchison and B. and O., receded ½ point each.

Sales to noon were 365,900 shares.

THE COOPER STOCKS.

Better prices have been recorded for the copper stocks on the speculative calculation that as times are improving the consumption of copper will also increase. The enormous accumulation of copper is well stored away loaded up with about 30,000,000 lbs. at 12 cents a pound, can keep it until better days. Cheap money makes it possible for them to wait for higher prices. It is not thought that that copper will come on the market under 15. What overproduction there is still in this country is thought will soon go into consumption, as the big electrical concerns have again become buyers. It is more the hopeful sentiment than the actual improvement that has lifted copper stocks. It may be some time until further great advances in them take place.

HOGS—Market opened 10c lower than Saturday. Receipts fair, but the quality was lacking. The packers were looking for heavy hogs, but the supply was far short of the demand. Some fair heavy hogs brought the top, $6.85; light under 160 lbs brought $6.35 to $6.70. Green grassy hogs slow sale, with prices about 10c to 15c lower.

ST. LOUIS MONEY MARKET.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 3.—There is a fairly firm undertone at the present time in the local money position, but this is because of what the future is held to have in store rather than present necessities. Bank vaults in St. Louis are well filled with currency and specie just now and there is no making of really first-class commercial credits.

Long-time accommodations maturing Dec. 1 are quoted roundly at 4¾ to 5 per cent. None of the banks have put out much money over the turn of the year so far.

FARMAN FLIES HALF MILE IN 1100-POUND AEROPLANE

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Henry Farman made his first public flight in this country at Brighton Beach Racetrack last evening. In his aeroplane, which weighs 1100 pounds, he flew about a half-mile in about 85 seconds, at an average height of 12 or 14 feet.

At a spot directly in front of the clubhouse the aeroplane was faced to the west and by a ladder its inventor mounted to it. He started the motor, the two insignificant looking propeller blades whirred about, the machine rattled and trembled like an impatient automobile. Then it moved slowly forward on its four bicycle wheels.

Perhaps a hundred feet had been covered with an uprise so gradual that the point where it left the ground could not be determined at a few yards distance when the bird found its wings. It reared 20 feet, then dropped a few feet, and sped in a bee line without a tremor.

LIVESTOCK.

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Ill., Aug. 3.—Estimated receipts today compare with a week and a year ago as follows:

	Today.	Week. Ago.	Year. Ago.
Cattle	11,000	8,800	9,200
Hogs	8,000	4,000	4,800
Sheep	5,000	1,400	4,800
Horses and mules	300	1,225	1,250

Estimated cattle receipts today were the largest so far this year, and the largest since Sept. 26, 1907, when 12,321 arrived.

NATIVE CATTLE—There was a fairly large number of steers included in the 2000 natives received, and some good kinds sold on the early market at $6.75, a steady price, but the general trade was slow at steady to 10c lower values, with but few sales made during the forenoon.

The supply of cows and heifers was moderate, and but few good ones were included. A few early sales to order buyers were about steady, but later bids were anywhere from 10c to 25c lower than the close of last week, with heifers selling at $5.75, cows at $5, bulls at $4 and veal calves at $6.50.

Not many stockers and feeders were received, and the demand was of the usual Monday proportions, and the trade quiet at about steady prices.

SOUTHERN CATTLE—The early estimate called for 9000 head in the quarantine division, some of which were late in arriving, and the prospects around noon were that the estimate would be exceeded. The previous largest number of cars received was 318 on June 15, 1904, so today's receipts will be close to if they do not exceed the record.

Most of the supply came from Texas and Oklahoma, and some pretty good kinds were included, as well as the usual proportion of medium and fair grades. Trade was slow during the morning, with bids on steers 15@25c lower, and cows and heifers selling from 10c to 15c under the close of last week.

HOGS—While the supply of hogs were not extra large, the market opened slow and 10@15c lower than the Saturday trade, most sales showing a loss of 15c. On Saturday two loads of medium weight hogs topped the market at $7.10, while it took extra good sorted to bring $6.95 today, and the bulk of the good hogs sold at $6.70@6.85. Fair grades and common kinds were very slow sale.

The shippers were the best buyers, with the butchers next as the packers were very bearish and bought most of their hogs at $6.60@6.75. Best lights weighing 125 to 160 lbs. sold at $6.25@6.65, fair grades and lighter weights sold at $5.50@6, common kinds $4@5.25. The late market was more active than early, but there was no improvement in prices.

SHEEP—A good supply of sheep arrived, most of which were lambs and good quality fat ones were very scarce. The market was full steady to strong on good mutton sheep, while good young breeding ewes were 10@15c higher, but lambs were 15@25c lower. Best lambs sold at $6@6.35, mutton sheep $4.25@4.50, breeding ewes $4.50@5, mixed stockers $3@3.75 and bucks $2.75@3. A load of 97-pound Mexican wethers sold at $4.50.

HORSES AND MULES—Receipts of horses approximated 125 head today, but the supply for the auction was small and not much life developed.

Most of the mule arrivals today were consigned direct to dealers. About half a load comprised the holding in the commission alleys, which was not a sufficient number to influence a change in conditions one way or another.

The Sugar Market.

The domestic refined sugar market yesterday was steady and unchanged, with all refiners doing business on the basis of 5.20c net, less 1 per cent for cash, for fine granulated.

Spot raw sugars were steady, with centrifugal quoted at 4.25c, muscovado at 3.75c and molasses at 3.45@3.50c. There were sales of 7000 bags of Cuban centrifugal at 4.25c.

The London beet sugar market was weak, with July and Aug. 2¼d lower at 10s 6d.

MRS. LONGWORTH ENDS STRIKE

She Offers Waitresses $5 a Day and Husband Settles.

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 3.—Ernest Ruffini, a delegate to the recent convention of the Kappa Sigma Fraternity in Denver, returned from the Yellowstone Park and told this story today:

"Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, daughter of the President, and party reached a crowded hotel in the Yellowstone Park last month, and found the servants on a strike. Mrs. Longworth said: 'Servants all on strike? Oh, that's all right. Just tell the girls I'll give them $5 a day if they'll work while we are here. Ask them if they won't do it as a personal favor to me.'

"The servants resumed work and all went well while the Longworth party stayed at the hotel. Mr. Longworth [illegible]

WHEAT RESPONDS VERY EXCITEDLY TO BULL FACTORS

Threatened Spring Wheat Crop Failure Causes Extended Advances.

CLOSED TWO CENTS UP

Absence of Rain Again Boosted Prices of Coarse Grains.

Although the local wheat market was rather quiet in the latter part of Monday's session, the largely higher levels reached by the early rapid and extended upward movement were mostly maintained, the market closing with good support evident. Final prices were 1⅞@2c higher for the day.

The opening was strong and excited, with all the traders in the pit in a rush to buy. Initial prices were about ½c higher than Saturday's close, with practically no opposition to the advance apparent. One of the principal bullish factors at the start was the Missouri State report on wheat, showing a yield of over a million bushels below last year. Buying inspired by this was encouraged by the strength of corn and a continuation of black rust reports from the Northwest. From the sea of messages that poured in from that region it is difficult to obtain an authoritative idea of the amount of harm done, the sensational damage reported in some reports being contradicted by other more conservative advices. It is likely that considerable harm is being done, however, and almost certain that the Northwest will not raise more wheat than last year, which is in itself bullish, as stocks of spring wheat are practically exhausted.

SUCH A FOOLISHNESS; BEER BROUGHT TO BELLEVILLE ALL THE WAY FROM FAR CHICAGO

Imported Supply Soon Exhausted by Harugaris and Local Brands Were Used.

The man who carried the coal to Newcastle has been outdone by the men who brought beer from Chicago to Belleville. The six cases of the amber fluid were brought by some of the Chicago delegates to the State grand lodge meeting of the Harugari, a German fraternal insurance lodge.

Either the Chicago delegates never heard of Belleville and its multitudinous beers or they are afraid to change from the brand they are used to. On account of the heat that has attended the convention, which began Sunday, the Chicago beer supply was soon exhausted and then the onslaught was made on Belleville and St. Louis brands.

The Sunday session consisted only in hearing an address of welcome by Mayor Kern and the response by the Grand Bard of the Harugari at Priester's Park. Monday morning the business session was begun and Monday afternoon or evening new officers will be elected. The session will close Tuesday.

CADETS ARE NOT YET OUT OF DANGER OF DISMISSAL

If Freed on Hazing Charge They May Be Disciplined for Going to Washington.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Although probably out of danger, the eight West Point cadets are still subject to dismissal on a charge of hazing. The back pedaling at Oyster Bay simply took President Roosevelt out of a hole into which Assistant Secretary Robert Shaw Oliver invited him to step when he forwarded the papers in the hazing case to Oyster Bay.

Secretary Wright is not satisfied that the cadets' offense constituted hazing within the meaning of the statute and it is said will disapprove the finding of the academy authorities. If he does so the compelling of plebes to gather fat black ants in their hats may become a recognized way for inculcating a lowly spirit in under classmen at West Point.

The cadets did violate the regulations by coming to Washington, and for this they are likely to be disciplined.

Weber Still in Race.

Joseph H. Weber of 2711 Blair avenue says the report printed in a morning paper that he has withdrawn from the race for Democratic Central Committeemen for the Eighteenth Ward is erroneous. Weber is the present Committeeman. He is a clerk in the office of the president of the Board of Assessors. His opponent for the committee is Michael Walsh, a former saloon keeper.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

RAILROAD NEWS AND GOSSIP

Gross earnings of all railroads in the United States reporting for the three weeks of July are $18,634,302, a decrease of 13.1 per cent, compared with the corresponding period of last year. An improvement is noted compared with preceding months, the same roads for the three weeks of June reporting a loss of 18.9 per cent, and for the three weeks of May 21.2 per cent. In the following table earnings of United States roads are given for the three weeks of July and for the same roads for a like period in June; also the more complete reports for June and the two preceding months:

	Gross Earnings, 1908.	Loss.	Per Cent.

The classified statement for June includes only a few additional roads this week, the more important ones being the Chicago Northwestern of the Granger group, and the Atlantic Coast Line of the Southern group. In the Granger group earnings are 20.3 per cent, and on Southern roads 14.7 per cent less than in the corresponding month last year. The statement is printed below:

That speculation begins to indulge in excesses is indicated by the bold manipulation of the different Erie stocks, which have been put up to unwarranted prices. No such improvement in the affairs of the Erie has taken place as to justify even half the advance the stocks have recorded.

There will be no dividend on the first preferred Erie shares for at least two or three years. It will take the company some time to get out of the woods and to emerge into daylight. It has closed the last fiscal year with net earnings not sufficient by a good-sized sum to meet the fixed charges.

The latter have increased by $600,000 on account of the $10,000,000 6 per cent note issue. An explanation of the rapid advance in the stock is given the rumor that the Erie may capture the Wheeling & Lake Erie and the Wabash Pittsburg Terminal, both of which roads are in receivers' hands. Then the Erie will only be saddled with two loosing concerns. That the Erie will finally get on its feet and pay dividends is generally believed. But it is a good distance away from that eventuality, and to discount this is a little too far-reaching. The real cause of the rise in the stock is manipulation for the purpose of unloading the junior bond issues, with which those in charge of the future of the railroad had loaded up in the panic days in order to stem the total depreciation of all Erie securities.

Every advance in the price, especially when it goes over 108, brings good-sized blocks on the market. The present price is considered too high and rather the result of coverings by a large short interest than of buying for investment. The company will need a great deal more money, while the margin for the present 5 per cent dividend is small. Not until the road begin to show an improvement in earnings can the stock be considered attractive.

The slight improvement in the stocks of the Rock Island system is simply due to speculative calculations that the stocks have not had their share in the advances of the last few weeks. There is no improvement in the financial condition of the system. It is simply believed that, as everything promises to become better, the Rock Island is liable to participate in it and to avoid a reorganization or financial troubles, there have been great efforts to advance both the common and preferred stocks, but they have met with only poor following so far.

MARRIED WOMEN

Every woman covets a shapely, pretty figure, and many of them deplore the loss of their girlish forms after marriage. The bearing of children is often destructive to the mother's shapeliness. All of this can be avoided, however, by the use of Mother's Friend before baby comes, as this great liniment always prepares the body for the strain upon it, and preserves the symmetry of her form. Mother's Friend overcomes all the danger of childbirth, and carries the expectant mother safely through this critical period without pain. It is woman's greatest blessing. Thousands gratefully tell of the benefit and relief derived from the use of this wonderful remedy. Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Our little book, telling all about this liniment will be sent free.

LITTLE GIRLS TO GIVE PLAY FOR PURE MILK FUND

And Their 14-Year-Old Manager Will Make the Costumes They Wear.

Little Bertha Reiter, 14 years old, of 1822 Biddle street, is the leader in a benefit being arranged for the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund by the children in her neighborhood, to take place at Self-Culture Hall, 1822 Carr street, on Saturday evening, Aug. 22.

This will be the sixth annual benefit given by these children for the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund, and Bertha has taken an active part in every one. She is now assisted by her three sisters, Ida, Pauline and Rosamond, and by Hazel Robinson, Lucille Youngman, Minnie Seltzer, Pearl Turk, Lottie Raider and Ruth Gross.

And you mustn't overlook Ruth Gross in this mention, because Ruth, though only 3 years old, is going to sing and recite at the entertainment, and they say she's the cutest little thing you ever saw in all your life.

Eight boys gave a performance for the benefit of the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Ice Fund at the residence of one of their number, Ben Manheimer, 5085 Page boulevard, last Friday night, from which they realized $6.26 for the Fund.

Irwin Hyman, one of the boys, drew a picture and made a poster advertising the performance, the picture showing a poor baby of the tenements vainly trying to extract comfort and sustenance from an empty milk bottle, and the inscription, reading: "Help Fill It."

Mabel Montgomery Makes Bid for High Stock Honors at West End Heights.

PLAY IS ABSORBING

Regeneration of Bad Young Woman Gives Play to Emotional Scenes.

A large St. Louis audience was given the first opportunity Sunday to witness a stock company production of one of the most popular dramatization of recent date, when Miss Mabel Montgomery and the West End Heights Stock company gave a pleasing performance of "In the Bishop's Carriage."

The play, which has just been released for stock company production, is a dramatization of Miriam Michelson's popular novel by Channing Pollock, and the play follows the story of the book closely.

Miss Montgomery has not been seen to better advantage in St. Louis than as the neglected child of the streets, who is won from the depths of depravity to a pure and honest woman by the love and self-sacrifices of an honest man.

Interesting Character Portrayed.

Her gradual reformation from the time of her appearance in the Bishop't carriage to the time of her final renunciation of her criminal sweetheart, and criminal life in one of the most interesting character studies the stage affords.

In the big third act Miss Montgomery gives strength to all her emotions and holds the scene by a subtle art that entitles her to a high rank among stock company actresses. Here she shows all the strength of a blighted and neglected life—a life of thievery—just opening to a realization of the pure, the honorable, and gaining a new glimpse of the better life. The better nature finally triumphs and the play has a satisfactory ending.

Montague Also Scores.

Frederick Montague, as William Latimer, gives a favorable and dignified portrayal of the philanthropist, whose love for humanity finally leads him to a love and redemption of the girl of the streets.

Mr. Barrett makes Tom Dolan, the thief and convict, a good foil for the work of Miss Montgomery and Montague.

Miss Rose Evans as Mrs. Ramsey, Maud Potter as Nellie Ramsey and the minor parts are all well taken.

The play is well staged in each of the four acts and the performance as a whole is a credit to the stock company and the management.

"TAMING OF THE SHREW" IS NEXT OPEN-AIR PERFORMANCE

Constance Crawley and her company will present "The Taming of the Shrew" in the Bixby Garden this evening and the high quality of the offering under the direction of Miss Crawley and Mr. Arthur Maude should insure a large attendance. It is certain that this most robust of Shakspeare's comedies will receive an admirable presentation, surpassing, in artistic merit and fidelity to the fine spirit of the work, many more pretentious productions of the regular season, and the charm of an open-air performance intensifies its appeal to all lovers of the beautiful.

The cast for tonight is as follow:

Baptist .. ..F. Winterly
Petruchio .. ..Arthur Maude
Hortensio .. ..Corwin Luskmoor
Lucentio .. ..Henry McKim
Gremio ....Clarence Crosby
Vincentio .. ..Henry Day
Tranio ....C. A. Chandos
Biondello ....Frank Noel
Grumio ....Horace Lyndon
Curtio .. ..Alice Dysart
A Widow .....Ann Scott

AND

Katherine .. ..Constance Crawley

In the Katherine of Miss Crawley, many qualified critics contend, there is found the truest realization of Shakspeare's tempestuous heroine seen on the American stage in years, not excepting the portrayals of Ada Rehan and Julio Marlowe. Miss Crawley plays the role with a splendid fieriness that ultimately changes, under love's influence, to the most melting womanly tenderness, making her Katherine especially vital and of most magnetic quality. Mr. Maude's Petruchio is said to be masterfully virile with the true essence of comedy, and others of the company are congenially cast.

FIRE IN "AUTOMOBILE ROW" FOLLOWS TANK EXPLOSION

Chauffeurs and Mechanics Organize a Chemical Brigade, but Cars Are Not Damaged.

"Automobile Row," where half the garages in the city stand side by side in the 3900 block on Olive street, was badly frightened about breakfast time Sunday, when fire broke out in the Acme Garage, 3944 Olive street. The prompt arrival of the fire department prevented the flames from spreading to other garages.

The fire started in a leaking gasoline tank in the rear of the building. Fumes from the tank were ignited and the tank exploded with a noise that could be heard from one end of the row to the other.

All the chauffeurs and mechanics in the different garages stood by with chemical apparatus ready to douse the valuable cars under their care if the fire should spread. But the firemen kept the blaze within the Acme building.

MAN AND WOMAN ARE THROWN OVER FENCE BY AUTOMOBILE

Dentist Escapes With Sprained Ankle, but Companion Is More Seriously Hurt.

Dr. Charles W. Kennerly, a dentist of 1273 Delaware avenue, St. Louis County, and a companion who he said is Miss Catherine Warden, but whose address he declined to give, were hurled from an automobile on Washington avenue, near Skinker road, Saturday shortly before midnight. The machine ran into a pile of building material in the road, swerved to one side and crashed into a fence post.

The occupants were thrown 25 feet over a five-foot fence and landed in a field. The woman was badly bruised, but was able to go home. Dr. Kennerly's right ankle was sprained.
